Concentration of environmental justice population was derived using environmental justice mapping and screening methods published in U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 2015 EJSCREEN Techical Documentation. The index is an average value calculated at the Census Block Group level from six environmental justice indicators: % minority, % low-income, % less than high school education, % linguistic isolation, % individuals under age 5, and % % individuals over age 64. Data classes are shown as data quintiles (20th percentiles).
