FARM TO SCHOOL EDUCATION NETWORKING EVENT

Thursday, December 3, 3:30 – 5:00 P.M.

Location: Remote via Zoom, registration required

Network - Learn - Share - Inspire

FREE EVENT – All Attendees receive Resource Kit with education supplies & samples of local food

Questions: Patty Case, 541-591-4627; patty.case@oregonstate.edu

Who Should Attend?

Educators, Head Start, Early Child Care Sites, School Garden or Greenhouse Coordinators, FFA, 4-H, Summer Lunch Programs, School Administrators, Food Service staff and anyone interested in connecting youth to local food.

Why attend?

- Hear about the history of food in our region from Todd Kepple, Klamath County Museum
- Get an update on Farm to School initiatives and funding from Melina Barker, OFSSGN Coordinator
- Learn about Harvest for Healthy Kids curriculum for young children from Diane Silberstein, OSU Extension
- Meet other people interested in Farm to School to share ideas and resources
- Get a FREE resource kit of educational supplies/food

To register for this free event,

Call OSU Extension Office at 541-883-7131

OR go to: https://forms.gle/QukLPASGDHRiexm79

OREGON Farm to School & School Garden NETWORK

Oregon State University Extension Service

What is Farm to School?

Farm to School programs help connect youth and families with fresh, healthy food and local producers.

When local food is served everyone wins – the youth, the farmer, the environment and our local economy.

Farm to School combines procurement of local/Oregon grown foods, and education activities related to agriculture, food, nutrition and school gardens.

DID YOU KNOW?
Klamath Schools & Early Childcare Sites receive over $100,000 to purchase local, Oregon-grown foods for our youth through the Farm to School Program!

Gather
Free Viewing & Discussion
December 1st
a film about Native American's movement to reclaim their identity through food sovereignty

OSU Extension Service prohibits discrimination in all its programs, services, activities, and materials.