Residential Continuing Education Course Updated

The Construction Contractors Board (CCB) residential continuing education course “Residential Contractor's Guide to Preventing and Resolving Disputes” has been updated to include changes in the law that became effective this year.

Effective January 1, 2012 Oregon law increased the damage amount that could be brought forth in Small Claims Court from $7,500 to $10,000. In addition, the fee to file the initial Small Claims Court action can be up to $90. This is a change from the course language of $100 - $150 to file the action.

The agency also took the opportunity to clarify language context in the course and the knowledge check questions. These changes became effective on December 3, 2012.

Contractors that have previously taken the course will have access to the revised version through their CCB Online Services account. After logging in and clicking on the Continuing Education link, a library of courses is located under the My CCB Course tab.
