83a. Timber Harvest (Public Lands)

Grades are based on whether data for 2005 met or exceeded the 2005 target. If 2005 data are not yet available, the assessments are based on whether the data trend is on track to meet the target. Possible grades for individual benchmarks:

- Yes = met or on track to meet the target
- Yes, but = close, met or on track but with concerns
- No, but = did not meet or off track but with signs of progress
- No = did not meet or off track

The following terms describe why data and/or targets are missing for some of the benchmarks:

- No targets - Progress Board decided no targets should be established for the benchmark.
- Target TBD - Target to be developed because benchmark is new or revised and lacks enough data to set targets. Many of these targets will be established before the 2009 report.
- Data NYA - Data not yet available or not yet adequate to assess progress because 1) the benchmark is new or revised and lacks enough new data to assess progress, and 2) the data are difficult to obtain, have insufficient sensitivity to change over time, or long periods of time exist between data points.

Module 1: OREGON'S PROGRESS

Making Progress?

83a. TIMBER HARVEST (PUBLIC LANDS)*No, but

Why this answer According to state officials, Oregon is below targeted harvest levels on public lands primarily due to management decisions affecting federal forests. However, Oregon edged closer from 2002 to 2005.
