Building Codes Division overview

Working with Oregonians to ensure safe building construction while supporting a positive business climate

- Support 7 governor-appointed, Senate-confirmed boards
- Adopt and administer the uniform statewide building code
- Resolve code disputes
- Assist local government building departments, and provide building inspection services where locals don't
- Issue plumbing, electrical, and boiler licenses
- Provide state boiler and elevator inspections
- Host and support state ePermitting software
- Issue manufactured home ownership documents

What is the state building code?

- The state building code is made up of various specialty codes (residential, commercial, electrical, plumbing, and mechanical).
- Mini/maxi: It is both the minimum standard builders must meet, and the maximum standard that local governments can enforce.
- It ensures everyone in the state has the benefit of a safe, efficient, and accessible code.

Funding sources

- BCD is “other funded”: generally does not receive general funds.
- BCD’s services are funded by the following:
 - 52% by surcharges on permit fees collected statewide.
 - 32% by building permits (where we are inspection provider).
 - 10% by licensing trade professionals.
 - 3% by investment income and civil penalties.
 - 3% by other smaller revenue sources.
