

ADDRESS CONFIDENTIALITY PROGRAM
OREGON DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Are you moving because of...

- Domestic Violence?
- Sexual Assault?
- Stalking?

Keep your address confidential.

Oregon has a program to help victims of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking keep a new home address confidential.

The Address Confidentiality Program (ACP) provides eligible victims with an alternative mailing address that may be used to fulfill the address requirements of court and government records.

To apply:
The ACP application is completed in person at a local domestic violence, sexual assault or stalking victim service program. To find a program in your area please call the ACP at 1-888-559-9090 or go to our website: <http://www.doj.state.or.us/crimev/confidentiality.shtml>

Address Confidentiality Program

If you move to a new location to escape domestic violence, sexual abuse or stalking, the Address Confidentiality Program (ACP) can help keep your new address confidential. Upon approval of your ACP application, your first-class mail is sent to the secure ACP substitute address and then forwarded to your new home. You can also use the substitute address for a variety of state and local government requirements, such as:

- Applying for and receiving child support
- Getting an Oregon driver's license
- Enrolling your children in public schools
- Applying for a marriage license

The ACP can help protect you and your loved ones by keeping your home address out of public record.

The ACP is free and it is easy to apply:

- Contact the ACP at 1-888-559-9090 or [a cp@doj.state.or.us](mailto:a cp@doj.state.or.us) for the name of a domestic violence, sexual assault and/or stalking victim assistance program near you or go to our website:
<http://www.doj.state.or.us/crimev/confidentiality.shtml>
- Go to your local victim assistance program and meet with an ACP Application Assistant.
- Develop an overall safety plan.
- Discuss the ACP guidelines and complete and ACP application packet.
- The application assistant will submit your application to the ACP for approval.
- If your application is approved, you will receive your ACP authorization card within 10 business days.
- You can begin to use the substitute address.
