Fire Certification

Reciprocity Information

Thank you for your interest in the Oregon Fire Service certification process. The State of Oregon Fire Certification Program does accept IFSAC, ProBoard, Department of Defense and out of state certificates that document you have met a specific NFPA standard as reciprocity for certification. Once you are affiliated with an Oregon Fire Agency they can use your currently held certificates to apply for certification for you. However, it is up to the agency's discretion if they would like to accept that training or not. They may require their own courses or additional training prior to applying for State Certification.

If you have any further questions about reciprocity or State of Oregon Certification please contact:
