Appeals Court Commissioner Stays Dry Needling Rule

November 14, 2011 Update below

Notice to Oregon Chiropractic Physicians & Interested Persons

The Court of Appeals Appellate Commissioner issued a Stay Order dated July 29, 2011.

This suspends the new rule until the issue is resolved by a full panel of judges after hearing a full presentation of the arguments.

The OBCE's dry needling rule is no longer in effect pending a full proceeding and argument before the Oregon Court of Appeals. This could be a lengthy process.

Chiropractic physicians who have been certified should cease all practice of dry needling. The OBCE may not certify any new chiropractic physicians during the period of the Stay.
