Changes to the DMV Customer Number Might Affect Your Organization

Your computer system or business process might need updating if either uses the Oregon DMV customer number or barcodes located on the back of Oregon Driver Licenses and Identification Cards.

Oregon DMV Will Be Issuing Customer Numbers That Include Letters

The Oregon DMV customer number displays on all Oregon Driver Licenses, Identification Cards, and Permits. This seven-character number uniquely identifies each customer for all Oregon DMV transactions.

Within the next five years, all the unique seven-character numeric combinations will have been issued. The date that the first alphanumeric customer number will be issued is not known yet. However, estimates place the earliest issue date at the beginning of 2014. DMV will start using alphanumeric customer numbers starting with the letter "A" followed by six numbers. The "B" series will follow, then "C," then down through the alphabet.
