

Program Name: Tribal Crafts
Contact person: None
Agency Name:
E-mail and phone #:
Date reviewed: 10-14-08	Type of Program reviewed:
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Prevention Services	<input type="checkbox"/> Addiction Treatment <input type="checkbox"/> Mental Health Treatment
Reviewers names: Caroline M. Cruz, David Fullerton, Ron Hudson, DeAnna Pearl, John Spence PhD

Review Criteria			*Tribal Best Practice Principles of Native American Programming Checklist
	Yes	No		Yes	No
Longevity in Tribal History	X		Elders have approved project.	X
(Transparency)			Each person is accepted, nurtured and empowered.	X
Description on file	X		Program includes teaching of specific tribal worldview.	X
(Standardization)			Tribal language is integrated into programming whenever possible.	X
Cultural replication within Tribe or other Tribe	X		There is an emphasis on specific tribal holistic approaches including community, family, relatives, and children.	X
(Replication)			Activities are multigenerational.	X
Meets Tribal principles	X		Family and tribal histories are included and emphasized.	X
(Research)			Traditional teaching and leadership strategies are drawn from tribal practices.	X
Measurable Outcomes - See NPC Research data	X		Native peoples, especially local tribal members, are engaged in key in planning, leadership, and teaching roles.	X
(Outcomes)			Program addresses historical trauma.	X
Study Design – Violates Cultural Values of Inclusion		X	Tribal story telling is part of programming.	X
(Random selection, Control Group)			Tribal sovereignty plays role in the program.	X
Adherence to key elements	X		Young people are given meaningful leadership roles.	X
(Fidelity)			Program addresses risk and protective factors.	X
Accepted? Date of approval.	X		Programming includes Community-Based Participatory Research Approach (CBPR). List of community members involved with the review.	X

Other: Tribal language is dependent on Tribe. Tribal sovereignty is included when appropriate. CBPR Is included when appropriate.