Matthew Marheine, domestic preparedness coordinator for Oregon Emergency Management (OEM), gives a briefing to county liaisons, operations staff and state agency representatives from OEM, May 23, in the Emergency Coordination Center at the Anderson Readiness Center in Salem, Ore., during the Portland Area Capabilities Exercise. The exercise tests emergency response capabilities. The role of the Emergency Coordination Center at Oregon Emergency Management is to support counties and liaison with the federal government during an emergency, if necessary. Last year, the ECC received major technological upgrades. (Photo by Cory Grogan, Oregon Emergency Management)

Doug Jimenez, exercise coordinator with Oregon Emergency Management and exercise controller for the Portland Area Capabilities Exercise, views the emergency response Real Time Assessment and Planning Tool for Oregon in the Emergency Coordination Center at the Anderson Readiness Center in Salem, Ore., during the Portland Area Capabilities Exercise, May 23. The exercise tests emergency response capabilities. The role of the Emergency Coordination Center at Oregon Emergency Management is to support counties and liaison with the federal government during an emergency, if necessary. Last year, the ECC received major technological upgrades. (Photo by Cory Grogan, Oregon Emergency Management)
Beth Depew, an Oregon Health Division health care liaison for Josephine and Jackson Counties, and Keith Moen, system coordinator for the emergency response Real Time Assessment and Planning Tool for Oregon, collaborate in the Emergency Coordination Center at the Anderson Readiness Center in Salem, Ore., during the Portland Area Capabilities Exercise, May 23. The exercise tests emergency response capabilities. The role of the Emergency Coordination Center at Oregon Emergency Management is to support counties and liaison with the federal government during an emergency, if necessary. Last year, the ECC received major technological upgrades. (Photo by Cory Grogan, Oregon Emergency Management)

Contact Info:

Oregon Office of Emergency Management Public Affairs Office:
Cory Grogan, 503-378-2911 ext. 22283
Kim Lippert, 503-580-6874