Anne S. Parrott
Coordinator
Public Health Preparedness
Columbia County Medical Reserve Corps

Anne Parrott joined the Columbia Health District Public Health Authority (CHDPHA) staff as their Coordinator of Public Health Preparedness on September 15, 2008. Prior to that Parrott managed a locally owned art gallery in St. Helens for two and half years.

Parrott holds bachelors and masters degrees in Speech-Language Pathology from the University of Wyoming and Idaho State University (respectively). She worked for 21 years at Legacy Emanuel Hospital and Health Center on the adult trauma team. Prior to joining the rehabilitation team at Emanuel, Parrott completed a year-long Speech-Language Pathology fellowship at the Portland Veteran's Administration hospital in Portland, Oregon. Before moving to the Pacific Northwest Parrott, grew up in a small community in north central Oklahoma where she became all too familiar with preparing for tornados and spring-time floods.

Next meeting is Tuesday, June 1, 10 a.m. with Randy Dodds from Intel as our guest speaker. This meeting will also be held at Dyno Nobel with the 911 Communications District providing treats and door prizes.
