

CHOOSING A TAX-DEFERRED RETIREMENT PLAN

Are you looking for a way to save more for retirement?

Although your pension may provide a significant source of income during retirement, it may not be enough to meet all of your income needs.

As an educational employee, you are eligible to participate in two additional types of investment plans: a 403(b)/TSA program and the Oregon Savings Growth Plan (OSGP), a 457 deferred compensation plan.

It can be difficult to know which type of investment plan may be the best choice for you. Both plans allow you to save for retirement by making voluntary pre-tax contributions through automatic payroll deductions. And in both types of plans, the earnings in your account accumulate tax-deferred until you begin withdrawing money. In fact, you can participate in both plans at the same time. See reverse side for a side-by-side comparison of the OSGP 457 Plan and a 403(b) Plan.

INVESTMENT OPTIONS

OSGP 457 Plan

OSGP offers 10 target date funds along with eight other investment options that range from conservative to aggressive risk levels. The Oregon Investment Council and PERS provide investment and administrative oversight, including the selection and monitoring of the investment options. Most are a blend of several professionally managed mutual funds. You may choose one of the target date options and let a team of investment managers gradually shift the investment mix throughout each stage of your life, or invest in any of the eight other investment options and tailor your portfolio suited to your particular circumstances and retirement goals.

403(b) Plans

A wide range of investment options are available through 403(b) plans, including annuities and mutual funds. The sponsor of a 403(b) plan typically does not screen or evaluate companies based on their investment records, credit ratings, or any other basis. It is the participant's responsibility to research and understand the provisions of the investments selected and to monitor them on an ongoing basis.

TAKING WITHDRAWALS

OSGP 457 Plan

OSGP provides a number of flexible options for withdrawing money when you leave your employer. You can leave the money in the Plan and choose from among various cash distribution options, or you can roll the money over to another eligible retirement plan or an IRA. Since there is no minimum age requirement to begin taking distributions, you have these flexible payment options immediately available when you leave your employer. Whether you roll your money over to another plan or IRA or you leave it in the OSGP, its tax-deferred status will be preserved and your savings can continue growing tax-deferred until withdrawn.

Unlike 403(b) plans, a distribution from the 457 OSGP Plan is never subject to a 10 percent early withdrawal penalty fee.

403(b) Plans

Generally, if you withdraw money from a 403(b) plan prior to age 59½ (or retirement at age 55), you will be assessed a 10 percent early withdrawal penalty. In addition, there may be other penalties and fees.

Tax-deferred investing is a powerful retirement savings tool. Taxes are not owed on tax-deferred savings until the money is withdrawn. This allows money that would ordinarily be subject to taxes to instead be reinvested and continue to grow. Therefore, earnings accumulate more quickly in a tax-deferred account than in a taxable account.

(Money is considered as income and subject to applicable taxes at the time it is withdrawn.)
