

Supplement to March 2007 News Journal (Administrative Actions)

The News Journal's prior article regarding Jon L. Heil was incomplete. The Agency's action regarding the proposed revocation of his license is still pending. Heil's property manager license has not been revoked as of this date.

The following is a description of the administrative process to date.

A Notice of Intent to Revoke Heil's license was issued December 4, 2006. An Order on Default was entered on December 28 because a request for hearing was not submitted within the time allowed. On January 8, 2007, Heil's attorney submitted a Late Hearing Request, which the Agency denied. On January 23, Heil's attorney renewed Heil's request for a hearing; requested a hearing to dispute the lateness of the hearing request; and alternatively requested a stay of the Order on Default. The Agency denied Heil's requests on January 31. On January 30, Heil filed a Petition for Judicial Review with the Court of Appeals. On February 7, the Agency received additional information from Heil's attorney in support of a motion to stay enforcement of the Order on Default. On February 8, the Agency granted Heil's request to stay enforcement of the Order on Default pending judicial review and appeal.

Updated: March 30, 2007