Active Shooter Preparedness

An active shooter is an individual actively engaged in killing or attempting to kill people in a confined and populated area. In most cases, active shooters use firearms and there is no pattern or method to their selection of victims. Active shooter situations are unpredictable and evolve quickly.

Because active shooter situations are often over within 10 to 15 minutes and before law enforcement arrives on the scene, individuals must be prepared both mentally and physically to deal with an active shooter situation.— U.S. Department of Homeland Security

If You See Something, Say Something™

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security started the If You See Something, Say Something™ Campaign. This campaign seeks to empower the individual, officials, and public servants to protect their neighbors and the communities they live and work in by recognizing and reporting suspicious activity.

Contact local law enforcement to report suspicious activity. Describe specifically what was observed including who was acting suspiciously or what was suspicious, where the suspicious activity occurred, when the suspicious activity took place and why the activity was suspicious.

For online self-education options please view the Protect Your Every Day Public Service Announcement, Hospitality Public Service Announcement and The Drop-Off Public Service Announcement.

How to Respond when Law Enforcement Arrives on Scene

The first officers to arrive on scene will not stop and help the injured; their purpose is to stop the active shooter as soon as possible. Expect rescue teams to follow initial officers.
