Instructors: Cutting Edge Training Staff

Overview: As an instructor course, this course is not about you. It is about training you to train your officers to be effective and to save their lives on the street while meeting constitutional requirements of objectively reasonable force.

Problem-solving is the foundation of all effective fighting--"techniques" just aren't successfully applied like on the mat--you knew that the first time you ever tried to apply that nifty wrist lock to someone who didn't understand how cool the technique was. The last fight you were in required you to figure out--under threat--how to take the suspect into custody.

When it comes to fighting, how do you learn to successfully "problem-solve" against a bigger, stronger, determined suspect. As an instructor, more importantly, how do you teach others to problem-solve?

This truly revolutionary concept forms the basis of the most effective method of teaching armed professionals to prevail in the very short period of time permitted for training. Centering on "Integrated Combatives Problem-Solving"(c) featuring the "Universal Rules and Principles of Combatives"(c), the application of simple yet effective physical skills, "Applied OODA Theory"(c), through the application of current legal and policy provisions for the force response, creates the formula to achieve problem-solving competency.

We provide simple-to-learn, simple-to-employ skills--with NO techniques--and combine them with universal rules and principles based on the natural reflexes and instincts that have helped humans survive for all of history. There is nothing to memorize and then forget in a week's time. We know there is no single "right way" to conclude any defense or control situation. We measure success in any defense situation by the following inflexible standards:

- * Did the officer prevail (preferably uninjured)--or, at least, survive?
- * Did the outcome of the incident meet constitutional, legal, and policy standards?
- * Was the officer able to take the subject into custody?

If the answer to each of these questions is "yes," then the officer did his/her job, and we did ours. We teach officers to do what officers do best: problem-solve force responses within a constitutional framework.

Developed from the street "in," NOT from the matroom "out."

10/16-10/20/2017

Class Title: Defensive Tactics Instructor: Integ. Combatives Prob. Solving T-t-T

No "martial arts" or high skill-based techniques are forced on officers in this program. Rather than taking complicated, contextually-critical techniques (specific defenses to specific attacks from cooperative partners) from the training floor and expecting them to work in the uncontrolled environment of the street, we base our program on the uncomplicated nature of the dynamic human response to conflict. We bring street reality and functionality "in" to the training for your benefit.

Average officers practice little and generally remember almost nothing of their complicated, martial arts-intensive training. Strong, skilled men generally develop training that is suited for big, strong, skilled men...however, this system works for them until they are confronted by another big, strong, skilled man--then they will need to problem-solve their way through this fight. All of your officers appreciate this system for its simplicity and tactically-sound approach to increasing their ability to effectively put hands on a resistive or even combative subject. Highly trained officers appreciate the depth of the system in answering questions of why they have been successfully performing--and for increasing their abilities to apply their previous training. Big or small, strong or weak, highly trained or relatively less-trained...all benefit greatly from our problem-solving approach.

How the Course Works

The "Integrated Combatives Problem-Solving: Train-the-Trainer" course is highly structured in its concept, with each block of instruction layered upon the foundation of all physical conflict problem-solving: the "Universal Rules and Principles of Combatives."(c) As the new instructor learns the concepts involved with Defensive Tactics, and then teaches it, the foundation for Police GroundCombatives training is laid. Police GroundCombatives leads to Arrest & Control, which leads to Real-World Weapon Retention, and so on through the entire course.

The following topics are the minimum in course content covered during this week-long instructor training course:

- * Constitutional Limits to the Police Force Response
- * Integrated Combatives Problem-Solving(c) Theory
- * Applied OODA Theory
- * M.A.P.S. Pre-Assault Indicators
- * Teaching Defensive Tactics and Combatives
- * Teaching Real-World Police GroundCombatives
- * Teaching Real-World Weapon Retention
- * Teaching Real-World Bladed Weapon Defense
- * Teaching Emergency Weapon Recovery
- * Teaching Tactical Arrest & Control
- * Teaching Multiple Officer Takedowns
- * Police Physical Training Skills Theory and Practice
- * Instructional Documentation Requirements

This course brings outstanding instructional skill to officer defense and subject control and arrest in a simple format that is constitutionally-based, tactically sound, effective, and easy to apply for every officer in your agency. This completely different process of bringing ordinary officers into the category of "competent police trainer" is something you'd expect from CUTTING EDGE TRAINING. We are the original, and, so far, the only police trainers to bring you training that is:

* Outcome-based: We train officers and their agency trainers to respond to every day threats --as well as extraordinarily dangerous circumstances--by employing "Integrated Combatives Problem-Solving"(c) featuring the "Universal Rules and Principles of Combatives,"(c) and "Applied OODA Theory."(c) The only determination of whether the officer's method of defense and control was "correct" is that the officer was not injured and survived, and his/her force response was legally reasonable and within policy--just like in the real-world of force evaluation and justification.

10/16-10/20/2017

*Gross-motor skills dependent: We never forget that these lessons are applied in the real world of fear and hazard and consequence, where nothing ever goes as planned. We have the only system that depends solely upon gross-motor skills in our combatives problem-solving efforts. We employ zero techniques to be forgotten a week later. Instead, we provide simple to employ, effective skills that have a high likelihood of success in any combative circumstance.

*Non-Technical: "Techniques" are fine-motor skills that routinely fail in the street. We teach no techniques because techniques only work against willing police officers on the mat and small children. Instead, we teach you to solve your combatives problems using naturally hard-wired solutions that are easy for every officer, regardless of level of ability.

Overview: A deep exploration into the science and experience of mindfulness as it relates to resiliency, warrior ethos, and the hero's journey. With a focus on mindfulness skill building to enhance self-awareness, attunement to others, compassion, wisdom and peak performance. Attendees will learn skills that can be translated to their personal and professional life. This train model resources responders to take on the occupational stressors and trauma of their profession and learn to thrive through the arch of their hero's journey.

Richard Goerling is a police lieutenant and retired Commander in the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve. He has completed the yearlong mindfulness facilitator training at UCLA's Mindful Awareness Research Center. He is an Affiliate Assistant Professor within the Graduate School of Professional Psychology at Pacific University and is currently a co-investigator and trainer in a National Institute of Health funded research project training mindfulness to police officers. Richard is a national speaker on mindfulness and resiliency in policing a cultural transformation toward an authentic, compassionate Warrior ethos. Richard participates with multi-disciplinary teams that explore mindfulness, restorative justice, council practice and other holistic approaches to hearing and community building. Additionally, Richard is active in developing policing and community practices that effectively meet the needs of returning veterans and those with acute mental illness.

Brian Shiers has studied mindful awareness methods at the Gurdjieff Foundation Los Angeles since 1993, Tibetan Vajrayana Buddhist practices for over ten years, and has completed nine week-long retreats, logging in over 3,500 hours of both sitting and moving meditation. With a degree in Kinesiology and Exercise Science setting the foundation for embodied awareness, Brian has completed the year-long facilitator training at UCLA's Mindful Awareness Research Center (MARC) under the direction of Diana Winston, Dr. Susan Smalley, and Dr. Marvin Belzer. As a member of MARC's faculty, Brian now teaches the signature MAP's I and II programs for UCLA MARC, as well as serving as a Mindfulness Coach to the Bruin Women's Varsity Volleyball Team, and has brought mindfulness to the workplace at Disney Animation Studios, Mattel Inc., and Salesforce.com. Brian earned his Master's in Mindfulness and Psychotherapy from Phillips Graduate Institute.

Overview: The Emergency Medical Dispatcher (EMD) has been recognized as an essential component of effective EMS systems. Proper and timely training as well as a sound medical protocol are what help EMDs deliver quality care to the calling public with emergency medical needs.

Over the past decade, Medical Priority's EMD Certification Course has become the standard for EMD training. The course meets or exceeds all national criteria set by A.S.T.M., U.S Department of Transportation, National Association of EMS Physicians, and others.

The EMD Certification Course includes Medical Priority's EMD Course Manual. Available separately are the Advanced MPDS card sets, ProQA software, and the Principles of Emergency Medical Dispatch reference textbook.

Participants who complete the 3-day course will be eligible for certification through International Academy of Emergency Medical Dispatch. To be EMD-certified, the applicant must also be CPR-certified through the National Safety Council, American Heart Association, American Red Cross, European Resuscitation Council or equivalent. We recommend this training be completed prior to attending the EMD course.

Cost: Free. Meals are not provided.

Instructors: NRA Law Enforcement Training

Overview: This school centers on the law enforcement rifle for patrol officers using iron sights or optics (which must be removed for zeroing exercises). The classroom portion informs students how to teach basic fundamentals of rifle marksmanship and handling, how to zero iron-sighted rifles, and discusses zeroing policy and liability concerns. Range work quickly moves from basic marksmanship to tactical movement, use of cover, various firing positions, pivots and turns, use of the "safety circle" concept, reloading under stress, firing on the move, multiple threats, unconventional shooting positions, decision-making, and reduced light threat identification and firing. Students groups will design a tactical course of fire, develop a lesson plan and run fellow students through their course at the end of the week.

Pre-requisites: Current Oregon law enforcement (minimum of 3 years law enforcement experience). A marksmanship ability of consistent 6 inch groups with a rifle at 50 yards from prone, sitting, kneeling and standing positions, and the ability to make accurate rifle sight adjustments, field strip, reassemble, load and unload, prior to arrival.

Hours: generally 0800-1700. SCHOOL STARTS AT 0730 HOURS ON MONDAY

Cost: $249.00

Instructors: William Everett, Senior Force Science Instructor

Overview: The Force Science Basics Course is designed to clearly present, in a practical and understandable fashion, the results of the most cutting edge research into the dynamics of human behavior during life-threatening encounters. The class will explore Force Science, the application of unbiased scientific principles and processes in repetitive physical experiments designed to determine the true nature of suspect provocation and officer response (action-reaction dynamics). The goal of the program is to encourage law enforcement professionals to apply the important concepts revealed in this research when investigating, reconstructing, recalling or otherwise analyzing a use of force. The integration of this information has been proven to enhance the accuracy and thoroughness of decisions made relative to behavior and performance during the incident.

Overview: Leading People in an Increasingly Dynamic World Leadership Seminar

Do you think you could be an even better leader? Are you having difficulty leading people from other generations? Maybe you wish you could be more effective influencing up and down a command chain. Lastly, are your followers not as motivated and engaged as they could be? If you answered yes to any of these questions, Leading People in an Increasingly Dynamic World is the right course for you!

This course is taken direct from the FBI's world-renowned National Academy program and taught by one of the National Academy's top-rated leadership instructors. In this completely interactive course, participants will learn:

- * The science behind motivating people.
- * How to leverage automatic social psychological behaviors to influence others.
- * The positive and negative effects of our unconscious biases.
- * How to become a transformational leader
- * Methods to create a memorable message by improving your communication skills.
- * Deploy your emotional intelligence ability to diffuse toxic employees and toxic situations.

Leading People in an Increasingly Dynamic World will drastically elevate your skill set by getting you to consider your leadership in ways you have never previously. Not only will this course spur deep reflection, but it will also force you to see your leadership from new perspectives while you engage in real life practical problems. Participants have raved about Leading People in an Increasingly Dynamic World calling it the best leadership course they have ever attended and also the most fun. If you think you have room for improvement as a leader, then Leading People in an Increasingly Dynamic World is the course for you. After all, don't your followers deserve the best leader possible?

Overview: Public Safety CBRNE Response Sampling Techniques Course (PER-222)

This is a performance-level course designed to address specific fundamentals and skills associated with an emergency response to a WMD incident. As such, it provides detailed technical information and includes hands-on practice of actions required of emergency responders in such situations.

Of special interest is the course's emphasis on collecting forensically valid samples, which is accomplished through maintaining a secure chain-of-custody for the sample from the time of collection through laboratory analysis. This process is consistent with operations of all public safety responding agencies.

As required by the National Incident Management System (NIMS), this course also addresses the necessity for teamwork (Incident Command and Unified Command) among all responding agencies and actions that public safety responders can take to support and facilitate the operations of fire and medical services and other responding agencies.

Overview: This course takes the position that the responsibility for quality-control enforcement in an organization depends on the loyalty and abilities of its first first-line supervisors. Effective supervisors are those that know when to motivate, when to lead, when to discipline, when to subordinate, and when to just get out of the way. Attendees are taught the legal and fiduciary responsibilities of a first-line supervisor, how to build a positive supervisor to subordinate relationship, how to apply basic principles of employee motivation, leadership and performance management to day-to-day performance problems. How to establish accountability with the difficult employee, how to conduct a problem-solving conference and document a plan for performance improvement.

Presenters:

ATTORNEY GENERAL ELLEN ROSENBLUM

A former federal prosecutor and state trial and appellate judge, Ellen Rosenblum was first elected to a four-year term as Oregon's 17th Attorney General in November, 2012 and was re-elected to a second term November 8, 2016. She is the first woman to serve as Oregon Attorney General. Her priorities include consumer protection and civil rights – advocating for and protecting Oregon's children, seniors, immigrants and crime victims and those saddled with education-related debt. She is committed to assisting district attorneys and local law enforcement in prosecuting elder abuse and complex crimes and has made crimes against children as well as consumer internet privacy high priorities.

Attorney General Rosenblum has been active in local and national organizations of lawyers, judges and attorneys general. She has served on the Executive Committee of the National Association of Attorneys General and she is the immediate past Chair of the Conference of Western Attorneys General. She has served as Secretary of the American Bar Association and is the Chair of the ABA Section of State & Local Government Law. She co-founded the section's Attorneys General and Department of Justice Issues Committee (AGDJ).

DAN NORRIS

10/26/2017

Class Title: 2nd Annual Attorney General Rosenblum's Elder Abuse Conference

Dan Norris had a full 28-year career as a prosecutor, serving as the District Attorney in Malheur County, as a special prosecutor in Oregon and Idaho, and as a Special Assistant U.S. Attorney for the Districts of Oregon and Virginia. Just as he was thinking of retiring, Attorney General Ellen Rosenblum created the first Elder Abuse Resource Prosecution Unit in the Criminal Justice Division. Though, at his age, some might consider it self-interest, he saw it as the job of a lifetime. Dan has been a passionate advocate for elders and is pleased to serve as the first Elder Abuse Resource Prosecutor for the State of Oregon.

RAMON RODRIQUEZ

Ramon Rodriguez is a Special Agent with the Oregon Department of Justice/Criminal Justice Division and is assigned to the State's first Elder Abuse Unit. Previously, Ramon worked as a police officer for a local Oregon agency and has over twenty years of law enforcement experience.

MEGAN HEWITT

Megan is the special agent of the Elder Abuse Section in the Criminal Justice Division.

MICHAEL SLAUSON

Michael is the chief counsel of the Criminal Justice Division. Prior to his current appointment, Michael served as the Oregon Attorney General's special counsel on public safety. Michael joined the Oregon DOJ in 2001 as an honors attorney. He spent his first year with the Appellate Division before moving to the Criminal Justice Division where he provided assistance to district attorneys and their staff, and prosecuted a broad array of criminal cases for 11 years. Michael received his B.A. from the University of Oregon and his J.D. from the University of Arizona College of Law.

JODIE BURETTA

Jodie Bureta graduated from Willamette College of Law in 2003, and served as a Deputy District Attorney with the Marion County District Attorney's Office from 2003 through 2014. During her tenure at the District Attorney's office, Jodie was a member of the sexual assault prosecution team for 10 years. While there she prosecuted almost exclusively person crimes involving adult, elderly, and child victims, including abuse, neglect and homicides. She was a member of the multidisciplinary child abuse review team and was the DDA assigned to chair the multi-agency homicide/assault response team. In 2013 she was appointed as the Trial Team Leader of the property crime and elder abuse division of the Marion County District Attorney's office where she supervised the trial lawyers who prosecuted all property offenses and elder abuse. In 2014 Jodie accepted a job with the Oregon Department of Justice Medicaid Fraud Unit where she continues to prosecute elder abuse and neglect perpetrated by Medicaid funded providers or in Medicaid funded facilities.

ELLEN KLEM

Ellen is the director of consumer outreach and education for the Office of the Attorney General. Her mission is to prevent financial harm to Oregonians, especially older adults, Oregonians whose first language is not English, and students with large education-related debts. Previously, Ellen worked at the American Bar Association Commission on Law and Aging in Washington, D.C., where she was responsible for research, policy development, advocacy, education and training. Ellen received her bachelor's degree from James Madison College at Michigan State University and a J.D. from Case Western Reserve University School of Law.

SHANE WINDER

Special Agent Shane Winder graduated from Southern Oregon University in 1994 with a B.S. in Criminology, and earned a commission as an Infantry Officer in the U.S. Marine Corps, serving from

Class Title: 2nd Annual Attorney General Rosenblum's Elder Abuse Conference

1994 to 1999. Shane began his law enforcement career as a Special Agent with the U.S. Department of State, Diplomatic Security Service in 2002. In addition to passport and visa fraud investigative duties, Shane worked protective details covering the U.S. Secretary of State to the Dalai Lama. In 2004, Shane accepted a lateral move to the U.S. Postal Service, Office of the Inspector General. Shane worked cases involving workers' compensation fraud, narcotics, mail theft, and health care provider fraud. In 2010, Shane moved to the Social Security Administration Office of the Inspector General. Shane has worked numerous benefit fraud investigations, elder and disabled adult financial exploitation, and assumed, fictitious, and stolen identity cases. Additionally, Shane is the SSA OIG Seattle Division's Lead Control Tactics Instructor, and Lead Technical Agent.

Agent Winder is the co-founder of the Social Services Fraud Working Group. Over the past six years, this concept spread to the District of Alaska, the District of Idaho, and the Western District of Washington, where other SSA OIG agents organized and established SSFWGs. The SSFWG has also received national recognition from the U.S. Attorney's Office, and in 2016 was given the Inspector General Award.

TROY KINDY

Troy Kindy is worker in private practice in Portland, who provides mental health services to older adults and others effected by aging related issues. In 2016, he co-founded The Commission for Elder Abuse and Neglect Specialists, an Oregon based non-profit, which provides education and training for clinicians and other interested persons in dementia specific elder abuse and neglect issues.

MATT EGGERT

Matt Eggert is a Senior Forensic Scientist with the Oregon State Police. He has been working in the field of forensic science for the past 15 years. He is currently performing casework in the areas of Biology Processing, Trace Evidence Processing, Latent Print Processing, and Field Investigations. He has extensive experience collecting and analyzing a wide variety of evidence, primarily as part of assault, sexual assault, and homicide investigations

ERIN GREENWALD

Erin Greenwald is a Senior Assistant Attorney General for the Oregon Department of Justice (DOJ). Since March 2010, she has been DOJ's Domestic Violence Resource Prosecutor (DVRP). As the state's DVRP, Erin provides resources and training specific to domestic and sexual violence issues to law enforcement, prosecutors, advocates and other community partners. For several years, Erin has focused on providing training opportunities to improve trauma-informed investigation and prosecution techniques in Oregon. To further that goal, Erin attended the two-week Special Victims Capabilities Course in Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri in 2015. In addition to creating, hosting, and facilitating trainings and conferences around the state, Erin continues to handle complex domestic and sexual violence cases while also working on legislative and policy matters related to those same issues. Before joining the Department of Justice, Erin worked as a Deputy District Attorney in Yamhill and Marion counties. Since 1999, she has prosecuted domestic violence and major person felonies, including child and adult sex abuse crimes and homicides. Erin has also served on a number of statewide domestic and sexual violence-related work groups, including the Statewide Firearms and Domestic Violence Task Force (Chair); Governor's Domestic Violence Prevention and Response Task Force, the Oregon Sexual Assault Task Force (SATF), and Oregon's Domestic Violence Fatality Review Team (Chair). Erin is also a prosecutor instructor with SATF's Sexual Assault Training Institute, as well as with You Have Options Program (YHOP).

HELEN KAO

10/26/2017

Class Title: 2nd Annual Attorney General Rosenblum's Elder Abuse Conference

Helen Kao is Medical Director of Clinical Innovations at Benton Hospice Service in Corvallis, and continues to serve as Associate Professor with the University of California San Francisco. She is board certified in internal medicine, geriatrics, and hospice & palliative medicine. Helen's clinical work has focused on the care of frail, homebound, and vulnerable older adults for the past decade. She has particular interests in dementia, home-based care, palliative care, and advocating for joint medical-legal care of patients with complex medical-social needs. She has been a leader in the development of clinical services at UC San Francisco, including the Medical-Legal Partnership for Seniors (a collaborative clinic with medical and legal providers to address legal determinants of health among vulnerable older adults). Helen moved to Corvallis, Oregon in 2016 with her family and continues to advocate for the improved care of older adults.

JAY PENTHENY

Detective Jay Pentheny is a 24 year veteran with the Multnomah County Sheriff's Office and is assigned to the Multnomah County Financial Abuse Specialist Team (FAST). He has been investigating crimes against the elderly for several years and in that capacity he investigates and arrests suspects who financially exploit and abuse elderly and vulnerable adults. Training everyone from elders in the community to judges has been the additional focus of Detective Pentheny and the financial specialist team he works with. Detective Pentheny is also a Federal Law Enforcement Trainer on Elder Abuse through Homeland Security.

ERIN OLSON

Erin K. Olson specializes in the representation of crime victims in civil and criminal cases. Her cases typically arise out of the physical, sexual, or financial abuse of children or vulnerable adults, and she has litigated dozens of child and elder abuse civil cases against individuals, religious and secular organizations, and governmental entities in state and federal trial and appellate courts.

Erin spent the first ten years of her legal career as a prosecutor, working for the Multnomah County District Attorney's Office, the United States Attorney's Office for the District of Oregon, and the Massachusetts Attorney General's Office. She has been in private practice since 2003.

Erin was raised in Madras, Oregon, and has a B.A. from Stanford University, an M.S. in Criminal Justice from Northeastern University, and a J.D. from the University of Connecticut. She is a co-founder and board member of the Oregon Crime Victims Law Center, and a board member of the National Crime Victim Bar Association.

Instructors: DPSST staff, Bend PD staff

Overview: The Reno Police Training Officer (PTO) model is based on the teaching principles of Problem-Based Learning (PBL) and emphasizes the need for the PTO to function primarily as a trainer rather than as an evaluator. PBL is firmly established in the fields of medicine and education, where it is used to facilitate the transfer of knowledge. Similarly, in policing, recruits need to learn much more than just laws and police procedures. They must also understand how to transfer their academy knowledge effectively when dealing with individuals and issues within a community. As demands on police continue to increase, agencies must provide officers with the resources and the training necessary to fulfill their expanded role. This approach will help police recruits think about their roles and responsibilities as they approach specific problems in their daily work. Problem solving is an integral part of police work and requires a creative and flexible method of thinking.

The PBL model encourages flexibility and creativity and this training model is designed to emphasize community-oriented policing principles and leadership development and train new recruits to be problem-solvers as they enter the field. This model is adaptable to any discipline within the criminal justice system (Corrections, P & P, etc.).

Overview: POLICE LIVES MATTER, BLACK LIVES MATTER, ALL LIVES MATTER. Those phrases have become outcries for police officers, community members, and mainstream media recently. In reality, tensions between law enforcement and minorities have been brewing for decades. Now more than ever, police officers must learn to balance aggressive crime fighting strategies with an understanding that their actions may be perceived as a racial profiling, civil rights violations, criminal offenses, or as mistreatment of citizens in the communities they are sworn to protect and serve.

THIS IS NOT A TRADITIONAL TRAINING CLASS.

Police & Minority relations will only improve through realistic, up-to-date training, dealing with the issues head on. This one day course will help officers identify and understand the problem, communicate more effectively with minorities, ensure compliance with federal & state laws, prepare for hostile encounters, and continue to engage in proactive policing without jeopardizing their safety.

This course is not designed to create an atmosphere of passive or reactive policing. When that approach is taken, the criminals win and wreak havoc in the community not to mention creating a more dangerous environment for police officers. This course will focus on bridging the gap between law enforcement and minorities while maintaining smart, aggressive strategies to deal with those who choose to violate the law.

Course topics covered:

Identifying and Understanding the Problem, Communicating More Effectively with Minorities, Ensure Compliance with Federal & State Laws, Preparation for Hostile Encounters, Proactive Police Strategies to Combat Crime, Proper Report Writing & Documentation, Expanding on Police, Buzz Words, Minimizing the Law Suits, True Officer Safety Consideration

Instructors: Art Hushen, National Institute for Crime Prevention

Overview: Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED), is based upon the principle that "the proper design and effective use of the built environment can lead to a reduction in the fear and incidence of crime, and the improvement in the quality of life."

WHO SHOULD ATTEND THIS TRAINING? CPTED strategies are ideal for Law Enforcement Officers, City Planners, City Managers, City Council Members, Architects, Traffic Engineers, Security Consultants, Educators or anyone involved in designing neighborhoods, schools, downtown, or buildings. It is an effective way of fighting crime and promoting business. Cities and Counties throughout the country are adopting CPTED ordinances requiring site plan reviews with crime prevention in mind. Law enforcement officers who are specially trained in CPTED are now working closely with Planners, Architects, City Officials, and Educators to ensure the proper design of structures, schools, and neighborhoods. More information can be found at www.cptedtraining.net.

Overview: Over the next few weeks, the Department of Public Safety Standards and Training's (DPSST) leadership team is planning to visit various locations around the state to share updates on both the criminal justice professional standards program and the training program.

These updates will focus on changes being made that affect law enforcement, corrections, parole and probation, telecommunications, and OLCC. We invite you to attend one of the sessions listed below and gather the most up to date information from our staff. We also want to invite you to share your feedback about the programs DPSST offers. The presenters at these sessions will include Professional Standards Division Director Lindsay Hale, Training Division Director Mike Leloff, and Director Eriks Gabliks. At each of the sessions, DPSST will provide the same information. DPSST is proud to be the steward of the state's criminal justice standards and training program and these regional sessions are a great way to share and receive information.

We hope your schedules allow you and your staff to attend.

Overview: Over the next few weeks, the Department of Public Safety Standards and Training's (DPSST) leadership team is planning to visit various locations around the state to share updates on both the criminal justice professional standards program and the training program.

These updates will focus on changes being made that affect law enforcement, corrections, parole and probation, telecommunications, and OLCC. We invite you to attend one of the sessions listed below and gather the most up to date information from our staff. We also want to invite you to share your feedback about the programs DPSST offers. The presenters at these sessions will include Professional Standards Division Director Lindsay Hale, Training Division Director Mike Leloff, and Director Eriks Gabliks. At each of the sessions, DPSST will provide the same information. DPSST is proud to be the steward of the state's criminal justice standards and training program and these regional sessions are a great way to share and receive information.

We hope your schedules allow you and your staff to attend.

Class Title: FEMA Heritage Emergency and Response Training

Target Audience: Selection of participants will be made on a competitive basis. The course team will select 25 participants from cultural heritage and first responder/emergency management organizations or agencies who work in the United States, U.S. territories, or Indian Country. Since the successful recovery of heritage collections is based on collaboration among many different types of professionals, the goal of HEART is to train a group with diverse backgrounds. Therefore both cultural heritage professionals and first responder/emergency management professionals are encouraged to apply for the training.

Overview: CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The Heritage Emergency National Task Force (HENTF) has created a new training opportunity for U.S.-based professionals to gain skills and experience in disaster response for cultural heritage. Heritage Emergency and Response Training (HEART) will combine the important principles of the internationally recognized First Aid for Cultural Heritage in Times of Crisis training model with context-specific information for a U.S. audience. The goal is to strengthen U.S. disaster response networks and connect participants to the wider international "First Aider" network of people trained to document and protect cultural heritage in times of crisis.

About The Training: The course consists of three parts. Accepted applicants will be required, before the start of the program, to complete FEMA's online course "Introduction to the Incident Command System (ICS 100)." Participants will travel to Washington, DC, for a week of hands-on training at the Smithsonian Institution from November 13-17, 2017. Sessions will provide realistic, hands-on training in damage assessment, rapid documentation, emergency evacuation and salvage, rehousing and storage, crisis communication, team building, and more. Starting in January 2018, a five-part webinar series will build upon the in-person training, reinforcing concepts covered in the November training.

Overview: Intermediate ICS-400 Command and General Staff - Complex Incidents MGT905 - 14.00 Hours

Course Content Information: <http://emergency.oregonstate.edu/training>

Course Description: Enhance your Incident Command skills, with a special focus on new concepts of the Incident Command System (ICS). The training and resources provided in this course will assist personnel who require advanced application of the ICS. The course will also benefit any person who has a responsibility to function in a command post managing an expanding incident.

This course builds upon information covered in the ICS-100, ICS-200, and ICS-300 courses and explains the roles and responsibilities of local, county, state, and federal agencies involved in managing an expanding incident.

You will participate in group activities that introduce the use of an Incident Complex and Area Command, and the interactions between Multi-Agency Coordination (MAC) entities.

Topics

- * Special management challenges for major incidents/events
- * Area Command
- * Multi-Agency Coordination Systems (MACS)

Target Audience: Personnel expected to perform in a management capacity in an expanding incident that may require a higher level of NIMS/ICS training from the following disciplines/services:

- * Fire Service
- * Emergency Medical Services (EMS)
- * Hazardous Materials (HazMat)
- * Law Enforcement (LE)
- * Public Health (PH)
- * Public Works (PW)
- * Emergency Management (EM)
- * Government administrative
- * Private sector and military (if invited by the host jurisdiction)
- * County, state, and federal agency personnel who may assume a supervisory role in expanding incidents or Type 3 incidents

11/14-11/15/2017

Class Title: Intermediate ICS-400 Command and General Staff

Prerequisites: 1. IS - 100, Introduction to Incident Command System (ICS) 2. IS - 200, ICS for Single Resources and Initial Action Incidents 3. ICS-300, Intermediate Incident Command System for Expanding Incidents 4. IS - 700, National Incident Management System (NIMS): An Introduction 5. IS - 800B, National Response Framework: An Introduction

Registration: You will need to obtain a FEMA Student Identification Number * Federal Student Identification (SID) is required for each student. DHS/FEMA has directed the implementation of the Federal SID for all HSNTF granted funded participants. If you have attended a federal training in the past 18-24 months you may already have SID #; if so select the option "Forgot Your FEMA SID?".

* The procedure for obtaining a SID number:

1. To register, go to <https://cdp.dhs.gov/femasid>
2. Click on the "Register for a FEMA SID" button near the top the screen.
3. Follow the instructions and provide the necessary information to create your account.
4. You will receive an email with your SID number. You should save this number in a secure location.

Complete the registration information on the TEEX web based registration page, using your SID and not social security number

Instructors: Texas A&M Engineering Extension Service (TEEX)

Overview: 'Intermediate ICS for Expanding Incidents' provides training and resources for personnel who require advanced application of the ICS. The course expands upon information covered in the ICS-100 and ICS-200 courses. This course is intended for individuals who may assume a supervisory role in expanding incidents or Type 3 incidents. FEMA recommends that ICS-300 participants have experience using concepts and principles from ICS 100 and 200 in a response or exercise and use their skills in an operational environment before taking ICS-400. This will provide necessary context and understanding of the skills they will develop when they take ICS-400.

Instructors: Jim Struve, LCSW, Howard Fradkin, PH.D., LICDS-CS

Overview: This workshop will delve more deeply into the unique challenges and stressors that male trauma survivors encounter beyond their initial engagement in activities for healing.

About the Training: Drawing from extensive clinical experience, the presenters will focus on the complexities that emerge during the process of maintaining therapeutic attachments with males over a more extended length of time. This workshop will identify areas of risk that are commonly associated with the treatment of traumatized males and strategies for managing these risks. Attention will be given to treatment approaches that can effectively tap into positive aspects of masculinity which can enhance the male survivor's internal strengths, unrecognized resilience, and ability to utilize external resources & support.

Goals:

Recognize four ethical clinical approaches for managing common dilemmas and impasses

Distinguish four different dynamics that accompany responses throughout the spectrum of dissociation

Identify four risk factors for counter-trauma and vicarious traumatization when working with traumatized males

Utilize the tools of self-reflection to explore ethical considerations of their own vulnerabilities for counter-trauma and vicarious traumatization

About the Trainers: Jim Struve, LCSW has been a practicing social worker since 1976. He is currently a Licensed Clinical Social Worker in private practice in Salt Lake City, providing psychotherapy services to individuals, couples, and groups.

Overview: Over the next few weeks, the Department of Public Safety Standards and Training's (DPSST) leadership team is planning to visit various locations around the state to share updates on both the criminal justice professional standards program and the training program.

These updates will focus on changes being made that affect law enforcement, corrections, parole and probation, telecommunications, and OLCC. We invite you to attend one of the sessions listed below and gather the most up to date information from our staff. We also want to invite you to share your feedback about the programs DPSST offers. The presenters at these sessions will include Professional Standards Division Director Lindsay Hale, Training Division Director Mike Leloff, and Director Eriks Gabliks. At each of the sessions, DPSST will provide the same information. DPSST is proud to be the steward of the state's criminal justice standards and training program and these regional sessions are a great way to share and receive information.

We hope your schedules allow you and your staff to attend.

Instructors: see 'Overview'

Overview: The need for one-on-one, or group interventions after dealing with traumatic events is important to keep first responders physically and mentally healthy. The mental fatigue of these investigations can no longer be swept under the rug, but must be dealt with in order to prevent career ending mistakes, divorce and suicides. Studies have shown that those who are reluctant to seek psychological help are often willing to discuss issues with peer support teams.

This class will cover the dynamics of dealing with traumatic incidents/investigations, and how to mentally/emotionally survive the aftermath. This will be presented by two experienced law enforcement officers; however the topic is timely and relevant for anyone involved in traumatic investigations. This is an important class, but these two experienced instructors will keep the class engaged, and laughing. See Matt and Cliff's website, www.1932training.com, for more information.

Inside the Tape has been committed to providing quality training to law-enforcement agencies since 2001 without raising tuition rates or cancelling classes. We have added more in depth topics and several new case reviews to our program which continues to receive high marks from law enforcement agencies at all levels across the country, and has been used as a model for homicide scene management by agencies such as the Cincinnati, Austin, Detroit, Atlanta and St Paul Police in Minnesota. Several agencies contract our program out for in-service training and have implemented our methodologies and crime scene management principles with great success resulting in higher clearance and conviction rates.

The instructor for this training course will be investigator David Newman (RET) from the Norfolk Police Department in Virginia. Investigator Newman began his career in law enforcement in 1984 and retired from Norfolk in late 2008. His experience with the Norfolk P.D. includes over 15 years in the bureau serving in homicide & forensics and involvement in over 500 death investigations and high profile homicides. While serving in forensics he has investigated over 2500 cases including an additional 65 homicide investigations and over 500 crime scenes.

Overview: DPSST is pleased to once again offer the Police to Corrections Basic class. This two-week course is open to all currently certified police officers employed at an agency that employs both police and corrections officers, if they fit in one of the following three categories:

1. They have transferred from a patrol position to the corrections discipline and need Basic Corrections certification
2. Their agency head has an operational need for the officer to become multi-discipline certified in the police and corrections disciplines so they can be utilized as required in either discipline
3. A certified law enforcement officer (Deputy, Supervisor, Command Staff) could attend the Police to Corrections Course as part of their professional development plan and only seek training credit for attending and completing the course.

The class is scheduled for December 4-15, 2017. You may apply now for this course by following the standard basic course application process: The F-4 Personnel Action form, the F-5 Application for Training and the F-2 Medical form. In addition, to apply for multi-discipline, you will need a letter on agency letterhead outlining the need for multi-discipline certification. Please reference the numbered scenarios below for clarification on any additional requirements and the process for certification.

All interested agencies are requested to submit applications for this course as soon as possible. We need a minimum number of 15 students to be able to run the class.

If you have questions related to the curriculum for this class, please contact James Webb at DPSST by phone 503-569-9802 or email james.webb@state.or.us

For scheduling or paperwork questions, or the multi-discipline process, contact Jordan James-Largent at DPSST by phone at 503-378-2353 or email jlargent@dpsst.state.or.us

Scenario 1 - The officer/deputy has transferred from a patrol position to the corrections discipline and needs Basic Corrections certification

*To register for the class submit the F4, F2, and F5.

*For certification, the officer/deputy will need to complete the Police to Corrections Basic Class, the corrections field training manual, have current first aid and CPR certifications, serve a minimum of 9 months in the corrections discipline and submit an F7 application for certification.

*Corrections certification is required within 12 months of the date of the status change moving the officer/deputy to the corrections discipline.

Scenario 2 - The agency has an operational need for the officer/deputy to become multi-discipline certified in the police and corrections disciplines so they can be utilized as required in either discipline

*To register for the class submit the F4, F2, and F5.

*For certification, the officer/deputy will need to complete the Police to Corrections Basic Class, the corrections field training manual, have current first aid and CPR certifications, serve a minimum of 9 months in the corrections discipline and submit an F7 application for certification. In addition, the agency will need to submit a written request for multidiscipline certification.

*Corrections certification is required within 12 months of the date of the status change moving the officer/deputy to the corrections discipline.

*Upon completing basic corrections certification, the officer/deputy must meet the multi-discipline maintenance requirements of 20 hours of training each year.

Scenario 3 - A certified law enforcement officer (Deputy, Supervisor, Command Staff) could attend the Police to Corrections Course as part of their professional development plan and only seek training credit for attending and completing the course.

*To register for the class submit the F5. Please indicate for professional development in the date requested box

*These attendees would receive the "certificate of completion" of the course but not a DPSST Basic Corrections Certification.

*If that person chose to seek certification as a corrections officer, they would be able to do so after the course and go through the standards in place with DPSST to allow this happen. Certification would require the completion of a medical examination as well as completion of the corrections field training manual.

Overview: The third annual Oregon POP Conference will include presentations from national and local experts in policing and crime analysis. Oregon and California law enforcement agencies will present Problem-Oriented Policing projects that they have implemented in their communities. This is an opportunity to learn about the proactive efforts being made throughout the state to use data, research and community involvement to address local crime problems and/or livability issues.

A dinner and keynote session featuring Santa Cruz Police Chief Andy Mills will be held during the evening on December 5th. Chief Mills has managed one patrol team that won the Herman Goldstein Award for Excellence in Problem-Oriented Policing and three other teams that were finalists. His work in the field has been included in several publications produced by PERF and the COPS Office. Mills has published articles on police leadership, problem-solving and police ethics in Problem Solving Quarterly, Law Enforcement News and several National Institute of Justice publications.

Instructors: Heidi Nichols, CFPH

Overview: While reflective infrared and ultraviolet photography techniques were discovered over 100 years ago, their use in forensics is not commonplace. This is due in part to the specialized equipment and techniques required to successfully capture useful images. This course will demystify the practice of taking reflective infrared and ultraviolet photographs with digital cameras and will provide the student with skills he or she can use in their work to assist in the investigation of criminal activity.

The human eye cannot see light in the infrared and ultraviolet wavebands of the spectrum. However, the properties of these types of radiation make it possible to capture images that cannot be captured using visible light. This makes infrared and ultraviolet photography capable of capturing images that might otherwise never be seen. In some cases, these images could make or break the case. Examples of some of the types of evidence that can be photographed with infrared and ultraviolet light include: * latent footwear impressions * fingerprints * body fluids including blood * pattern injuries including bitemarks.

It is important to note that this type of photography cannot be accomplished with normal digital cameras. Manufacturers take steps to prevent infrared and ultraviolet light from being recorded by their cameras. In order to succeed, the photographer must select the equipment that will yield usable results. This course includes a segment on different types of equipment that can be used to give useful results, including: * camera selection including full-spectrum cameras and modified cameras * lens selection * filtration options * light source options * photography techniques * reflective infrared * reflective ultraviolet * infrared (invisible) fluorescence

This course stresses hands-on exercises. Students will learn from actually photographing in the infrared and ultraviolet wavebands. Safety is stressed in every exercise.

Instructors:

Overview: This course covers the essentials patrol officers, investigators, P&P officers, SRO's and anyone in the criminal justice system needs to know about social networking whether they use it or not. Various types of crime are rooted in social networking activity, including drugs, scams, identity theft, flash mobs, sexting, sextortion, cyber bullying, even school shootings. This training class will break down the elements of social networking, examine what information is collected, and demonstrate what a great investigative/intelligence tool it can be. Information regarding investigative leads, relationships, communications, photographs, location, etc. is all available and many times open source. In addition, attendees will learn the proper methods of authenticating information they collect.

Social networking has also created a number of problems for law enforcement, especially in matters of safety for officers and their families. Social media sites exist where both officer and informant information is posted. Criminal organizations collect photos and bio material of officers and share that information via social media. This class will delineate steps officers should take to safeguard their information while utilizing social media for investigative work, as well as in their personal lives.

Instructors: Dr. Joe Sullivan, PhD

Overview: Specialist Interview Course: Using behaviour analysis insights into perpetrators of sexual crimes against children to inform the creation and implementation of effective interview strategies

In this 5-day Specialist Interview Course, participants will learn to use behaviour analysis insights into perpetrators of sexual crimes against children to inform the creation and implementation of effective interview strategies. By understanding how and why sexual abuse takes place, those working at the front line of child protection are better placed to intervene and safeguard the most vulnerable in society. Providing child protection through a greater understanding of how sex offenders operate is the ethos behind the Mentor Interview Technique. This comprehensive specialist interview system has been specifically designed to enhance the skills and knowledge base of those professionals who interview child sex offenders in the course of law enforcement investigations, child protection evaluations and risk assessment and/or management of offenders.

Prerequisites: None

Registration: Cost: $525 (due to a generous grant provided by the Children's Justice Act Task Force of Oregon, a portion of the costs have been paid for Oregon professionals) for law enforcement professionals, parole and probation officers, child protective service workers, treatment professionals, child assessment center professionals, and District Attorneys who work in Oregon. $750 for out-of-state professionals in the same fields.

Overview: Nearly twice the number of officers take their own life than those killed in the line of duty. Stress Management continues to remain an important and underappreciated aspect of law enforcement. The common exposure to anguish, dangers of the job, and career responsibility accompany the ever-changing police culture.

A law enforcement practitioner's ability to manage and use their emotions effectively and in a positive way is crucial for stress management and career survival while aiding in and helping establish positive community relations.

This course is designed for and been delivered to every level of law enforcement officer from patrol to command staff.

The class scheduled on September 22, 2017 has been cancelled.

Overview: 30th Annual Session of the Oregon Executive Development Institute (OEDI) Executive Leadership Training

OEDI Session XXX is a 5-day leadership training event specifically designed for current and future public safety executives, military leaders and managers and executives from the private sector and Higher Ed with a nexus to public safety. The format is in-residence, rural setting with training and networking events that extend into the evening to maximize the week-long session. The training emphasizes scenario-based, hands-on executive leadership through relationship building and interpersonal skills development to enhance personal and organizational performance. The underlying theme of the program is servant leadership, which is woven throughout the fabric of the curriculum.

Instructors: This year's session will feature instructors from the FBI National Academy; US Attorney's Office; George Fox University and the Program Management Academy, Rubicon Group and the Western Community Policing Institute.

Prerequisites: Fill out and submit an OEDI application and attachments which can be found on our website www.oedionline.org

Registration: Cost: $1,599 single occupancy - Fee includes 41.5 hours of exceptional executive leadership training, all instructional materials loaded onto a Kindle Fire, 5 nights lodging, all meals (full breakfast, lunch and dinner), AM/PM breaks each day including coffee, tea service, fresh fruit and snacks, Thursday evening banquet dinner and guest speaker, special networking events and refreshments, use of the Sage Springs Fitness Center and special gift for all attendees.

To Register: Visit our website at www.oedionline.org and click on Training then Annual Session.

Attire: Business casual - no jeans, t-shirts, cargo pants, etc.

ClassNeeds: All materials, supplies, etc. will be provided including a Kindle Fire for each student.

Lodging: Kah-Nee-Ta Resort, Warm Springs, Oregon. Note, if you are selected to attend the 2018 session, all lodging arrangements will be made for you in advance.

Class Title: At-Scene Traffic Crash/Traffic Homicide Investigation

Target Audience: Law enforcement and private traffic crash investigators, claims adjusters, engineers, attorneys, safety officers, military investigative personnel

Sponsoring Agency: IPTM Hosting: Beaverton Police Department

When: 3/19-3/30/2018

Registration Deadline:

Contact: ; 904-620-4786; #mailto:info@iptm.org#

Hours: 0800-1700

Where: Beaverton Police Department, 4755 SW Griffith Dr. Beaverton, OR 97005 -- Training Classroom A, 2nd Fl

Cost: $1,095.00

Instructors:

Overview: This course will arm you with the necessary skills to conduct a thorough traffic crash investigation and properly document your findings for courtroom presentation.

We will show you the proper procedure for measuring, scale diagraming, and photographing in order to record physical evidence and essential facts available only at the crash scene.

You will learn the fundamentals of mathematical equations to apply for the type of crash being investigated. Finally, you will learn to analyze the information to determine what happened before, during, and after the collision.

Controlled experiments with skidding vehicles and other projects throughout the course will allow you to apply these concepts to actual field situations.

IPTM's At-Scene Traffic Crash/Traffic Homicide Investigations will prepare you for a variety of advanced and specialty courses in traffic crash investigations.

Topics include:

- *Physical evidence from the roadway
- *Physical evidence from the vehicle
- *The human element and occupant kinematics
- *Mathematical principles and equations
- *Skid marks and vehicle speeds
- *Crash scene photography
- *Traffic templates
- *Measuring and scale diagramming
- *Driver and witness interviews
- *Information analysis and case preparation

Cost: $1,095.00

Instructors:

Overview: Building upon the theories and techniques learned in IPTM's At-Scene Traffic Crash/Homicide Investigation course, this class will delve into the advanced concepts of traffic crash investigations. More complex vehicle dynamics like acceleration/deceleration, factor, rate and airborne situations will be explored. You will learn to estimate speeds from falls, vaults, and flips and the calculation of kinetic energy and linear momentum. You'll also learn to evaluate vehicle behaviors during the collision.

Much of the coursework will be spent using acceleration/deceleration factors and perception/reaction times to determine time/ distance relationships for colliding vehicles.

Topics Include: *Speed estimates from kinetic energy, skidmarks, scuffmarks and airborne situations
*Vehicle dynamics and motion *Time, distance, and motion equations *Conservation of momentum equations *Center of mass calculation *Vehicle lamp examination *Tire damage evaluation *Vector sum analysis

Prerequisites: You must have completed IPTM's At-Scene Traffic Crash/Traffic Homicide Investigation course or its equivalent.

Registration: www.iptm.org

Cost: $1,095.00

Instructors:

Overview: Traffic Crash Reconstruction builds upon IPTM's Advanced Traffic Crash Investigation course by assisting you further in understanding vehicle dynamics. You will take part in a more intense study of time/distance calculations, two-dimensional momentum and impact speed calculations using momentum equations.

Topics include: *Derivation and origin of the commonly used speed formulas *Speed of vehicles at impact using conservation of linear momentum *Behavior of vehicles in a collision using Newton's three laws of motion *Discussions of commercial vehicle and motorcycle dynamics in collisions *The determination of direction of travel, initial contact and position of vehicles on the roadway

This course includes extensive project work and controlled vehicle experiments to give you firsthand experience in crash reconstruction. Each student will be required to diagram and analyze three different crash scenarios as well as complete vector sum analysis of each.

Prerequisites: Because of the highly technical subject matter, it is mandatory for you to have successfully completed IPTM's Advanced Traffic Crash Investigation (80 hours) course or its equivalent.
