Instructors:

Overview: The Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) is an innovative first-responder model of police-based crisis intervention with community, health care and advocacy partnerships. CIT provides law enforcement-based crisis intervention training for assisting those individuals in crisis or with a mental illness, and improves the safety of patrol officers, consumers, family members and citizens within the community.

CIT is a program that provides the foundation necessary to promote community and statewide solutions to assist individuals in crisis and those with mental illness. The CIT Model reduces both stigma and need for further involvement with the criminal justice system. CIT provides a forum for effective problems solving regarding the interaction between the criminal justice and mental health care system and creates the context for sustainable change.

Overview: Developing Emergency Operations Plans (EOPs) K-12 101 Train-the-Educator (TtE) Training - An overview of recommended planning processes and key considerations for creating, revising, or enhancing school EOPs

The Readiness and Emergency Management for Schools (REMS) Technical Assistance (TA) Center, on behalf of the U.S. Department of Education's Office of Safe and Healthy Students, is pleased to offer the "Developing Emergency Operations Plans (EOPs) K-12 101 Training." This on-site, 4-hour training presents important Federal guidance on school emergency management planning.

Each school day, our nation's schools are entrusted to provide a safe and healthy learning environment for approximately 55 million elementary and secondary school students in public and nonpublic schools. In June 2013, the Obama Administration released the Guide for Developing High-Quality School Emergency Operations Plans (School Guide) which provides an overview of Federal guidance on school emergency management planning.

The School Guide, produced by the U.S. Departments of Education; Justice, led by the Federal Bureau of Investigation; Homeland Security, led by the Federal Emergency Management Agency; and Health and Human Services, incorporates lessons learned from recent events, like the school shooting in Newtown and the tornadoes in Oklahoma, as well as years of emergency planning work by the Federal government, to present a recommended process, important content elements, and key considerations for school emergency operations plan (EOP) development.

In collaboration with their local government and community partners, schools can take steps to plan for these potential emergencies through the creation of a high-quality school EOP. With this K-12 101 TBR, an expert team will provide an overview of a recommended six step planning process to create a high quality school EOP, which includes the following:

Step 1: Forming a Collaborative Planning Team

Step 2: Understanding the Situation

Step 3: Determining Goals and Objectives

Overview: FREE two-day training open to all officers and their significant others identifying those issues that manifest while working on the front lines of a demanding career that can lead to many issues regarding (but not limited to) trauma, relationships, finances, mental health and substance abuse matters that can result in the loss of relationships, jobs and eventually their life.

These trainings are designed for all first responders and their family members if they choose, to provide them with the tools to help individuals being held back both personally and professionally by the bonds of the addictive behaviors, co-dependency, family systems or trauma in any form. Participants will examine those barriers and experiences that influence the capacity for a happy, healthy life and career. The intensive training experience will reveal how painful life and job experiences are and that they can hamper the growth of individuals and block the ability to be authentic in relationships with self and others.

While there is a stigma associated with reaching out for help or reaching out for help for others within the profession, the trainings are designed to overcome these barriers. The trainings are also designed to empower first responders to look within and confront issues (both on and off the job) such as trauma, co-dependent relationships, setting healthy boundaries, using tools to increase self-esteem, to understanding and effectively experience all emotions and creating a tactical personal self-care plan to be successful in their personal and professional lives.

Instructors: <http://www.clackamas.us/sheriff/peersupport/speakers.html>

Overview: The Northwest Peer Support Conference -- hosted by the Clackamas County Sheriff's Office and the Oregon Law Enforcement Memorial Trust Fund -- is a bi-annual training designed to educate members of public-safety peer-support teams in a variety of crisis-related issues.

The conference also provides guidance for those interested in starting a peer-support team and clinicians interested in working with our population.

Attendees include public-safety employees, first responders, clergy, mental-health professionals, spouses and partners involved in the emergency-responder community.

Our theme, "Serving Those Who Serve," reminds us to promote the health and well-being of our emergency responder communities by providing confidential support and assistance to our peers and their families when they are experiencing emotional distress due to critical work-related or personal events.

Overview: The Krav Maga Worldwide Force Training Division has several programs that are designed to train a large number of personnel at one time, and can be learned in a relatively short period of instruction. We focus on well-integrated strategies to ensure that similar defensive principles are applied to a variety of hostile situations, and that our techniques are easy to retain with minimal review and can be performed under extreme stress.

The Krav Maga Worldwide Force Training Division has been overwhelmingly praised by defensive tactics instructors from federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies, as well as hand to hand combat trainers from special units of the military.

Krav Maga for police officers, security officers, and correctional officers addresses concerns unique to the law enforcement community that civilian martial arts training doesn't cover. Krav Maga for police emphasizes officer safety while giving officers documented real-world scenario training. Krav Maga for law enforcement teaches how to gain, regain, and maintain control of common combative situations. We focus on compliant, resistant, high-risk, and life-threatening scenarios.

Cost: Free. Lunch on your own.

Instructors: Ellis Amdur, M.A.

Overview: The Thin Blue Lifeline: Tactical Verbal De-escalation of People Experiencing A Mental Health Crisis

Because officers have to protect their own safety as well as the safety of others, they often have limited time in which to establish a communication mode that minimizes the risk of violence. Agitated individuals can often be directed away from violence by specific communication skills. Verbal de-escalation techniques are geared to "set up" those being contained so that physical control techniques are enhanced, if they become necessary. When the public is witness to successful verbal de-escalation, they better understand and respect the challenges facing an officer, which contributes to future officer safety.

Presenter: Ellis Amdur, M.A., Edgework founder, received his B.A. in psychology from Yale University in 1974, and his M.A. in psychology from Seattle University in 1990. He is both a National Certified Counselor and a State Certified Child Mental Health Specialist. Mr. Amdur has worked in the field of crisis intervention since 1988. He is one of the most prominent trainers in the Pacific Northwest on verbal de-escalation of aggressive and mentally ill individuals. His work focuses on communication specific for first responders to calm and control people manifesting mental illness and emotional disturbance, particularly those who are exhibiting potentially dangerous behaviors.

Overview: The Stress First Aid has been designed to reduce the risk for stress reactions in law enforcement personnel. This class has been developed specifically for law enforcement personnel by the National Center on Post-Traumatic Stress and is based on the Combat & Operational Stress First Aid (COSFA) class used by the United States Marine Corps and the United States Navy. It recognizes quickly those individuals who are reacting to a wide range of stressors in their work and personal lives, and are in need of interventions to promote healing. Stress First Aid offers a spectrum of one-on-one or group interventions to ensure safety, reduce the risk for more severe stress reactions and to promote recovery. Stress First Aid monitors the progress of recovery to ensure return to full function and well-being. Stress First Aid bridges individuals to higher levels of care as needed. Stress First Aid training discusses the principles of peer teams in public safety and how they can be organized to promote healing. This class is not meant to replace CISD training classes or programs but to be used as an additional or alternative resource.

Note: Those attending the class should be members of peer support teams and have the ability to provide training as this is not an instructor development course. The first day of the class will present the course and related materials and attendees will be asked to deliver portions of the class on the second day of the training.

Instructors: POWER PHONE

Overview: With high-risk law enforcement related 9-1-1 calls dispatched daily, it is essential that focus on officer safety is continuously reinforced. 9-1-1 call takers and dispatchers are a vital link in the emergency response chain and the lifeline to responding officers. Consequently, they must be educated about the dangers officers might face and how to best minimize those risks. PowerPhone, the world leader in emergency communications training, introduces a new course designed to better protect those who protect and serve. The Dispatcher's Role in Protecting Law Enforcement Responders is specifically designed to educate telecommunicators in understanding the risks faced by law enforcement officers and their integral role in enhancing officer safety. In this dynamic one-day class, dispatchers will learn how to better identify threats to officers by establishing a safer response environment, and providing pre-arrival survival instructions to both callers and responders.

Topics Covered:

- Felonious line of duty deaths
- High-risk crimes and incidents in progress
- Groups that target law enforcement
- Extremist and street gangs
- Dispatcher tactics to protect officers
- Officer safety in motor vehicle stops
- Officer safety in domestic violence calls
- Barricaded suspects and active shooters
- Radio dispatch procedures and etiquette
- Descriptive information gathering
- Critical incident stress debriefing

Students will learn how to:

- Recognize threats to officers
- Provide pre-arrival survival instructions for officers
- Identify potential "suicide by cop" scenarios

Where: Medford Police Department, 219 S. Ivy St, Medford, OR

Cost: Free. Meals and lodging are not provided.

Instructors: Mark Linville and Tim Ragan, DPSST

Overview: The Reno Police Training Officer (PTO) model is based on the teaching principles of Problem-Based Learning (PBL) and emphasizes the need for the PTO to function primarily as a trainer rather than as an evaluator. PBL is firmly established in the fields of medicine and education, where it is used to facilitate the transfer of knowledge. Similarly, in policing, recruits need to learn much more than just laws and police procedures. They must also understand how to transfer their academy knowledge effectively when dealing with individuals and issues within a community. As demands on police continue to increase, agencies must provide officers with the resources and the training necessary to fulfill their expanded role. This approach will help police recruits think about their roles and responsibilities as they approach specific problems in their daily work. Problem solving is an integral part of police work and requires a creative and flexible method of thinking.

The PBL model encourages flexibility and creativity and this training model is designed to emphasize community-oriented policing principles and leadership development and train new recruits to be problem-solvers as they enter the field. This model is adaptable to any discipline within the criminal justice system (Corrections, P & P, etc.).

Class is limited to 16 students, with a minimum of 10 students.

Prerequisites: Full time police, corrections, parole and probation, and telecommunicator. **Due to time constraints preference will be given to full time law enforcement**

Registration: REGISTRATION DEADLINE: 1700 hours on Feb 14, 2018.

*****PLEASE NOTE***** The curriculum for this class was developed for full-time police, corrections, parole and probation, telecommunicator/emergency medical dispatch personnel.

Priority in selection will be given to those individuals who work as a full-time police, corrections or P&P officer, or a telecommunicator/emergency medical dispatcher first.

Those individuals who are employed full-time within those disciplines, but whose duties fall outside of those job titles will still be able to submit their application for consideration. The application will be placed on a waiting list pending space availability. Approximately seven business days before the class starts the applicant will be notified of their attendance status.

Instructors: see 'Overview'

Overview: The Oregon Parks and Recreation Department has developed a training opportunity for law enforcement responsible for responding to violations of archaeological laws at no cost to law enforcement agencies. Join in-house cultural resource experts, professional instructors, tribal cultural resources staff, and a state and federal attorneys for one day of exceptional instruction and applicable hands-on field work.

This training program will provide an overview of archaeological issues as they affect state, tribal, federal and private lands in Oregon. Additionally, the recognition of prehistoric sites, the importance of archaeological preservation, and applicable federal and state regulations are addressed.

The agenda will provide an integrated perspective from the archaeological and legal professions, and Native American communities. This integration will broaden the cultural awareness of law enforcement employees and provide information on the consultation and jurisdiction process with appropriate tribes. Training will include lectures and an on-site visit to a local archaeological site.

The Archaeology Training for Law Enforcement has an impressive instruction team, including professional archaeologists and cultural specialists from Oregon's Tribes, Oregon Parks and Recreation Department, Oregon State Historic Preservation Office, US Department of Justice, Oregon State Police and Oregon Department of Justice. This unique culmination of expertise and experience creates an inspiring learning environment and serves to present a balanced understanding of the importance of cultural resources from both a scientific and tribal perspective.

Instructors: Byron Boston, Dallas Police Department (Ret.)

Overview: Now more than ever, police officers must learn to balance aggressive crime fighting strategies with an understanding that their actions may be perceived as racial profiling, civil rights violations, criminal offenses, or as mistreatment of citizens in the communities they are sworn to protect and serve. It is the front line patrol officer & supervisor who are at the greatest risk of a hostile encounter. THIS IS NOT A TRADITIONAL TRAINING CLASS and this course is NOT designed to create an atmosphere of passive or reactive policing.

This one day course will help officers identify & understand the problem, communicate more effectively with minorities, ensure compliance with federal & state laws, prepare for hostile encounters, and continue to engage in proactive policing without jeopardizing their safety. This course will focus on bridging the gap between law enforcement and minorities, while maintaining smart, aggressive strategies to deal with those that choose to violate the law. Topics covered include, but are not limited to an overview of movements/protest, Preparation for Hostile Encounters, Tactical De-escalation Techniques (Overview), Understanding DOJ Consent Decree, Communicating More Effectively with Minorities, Building Community Trust, True Officer Safety Consideration, and more.

Byron Boston served twenty years with Dallas Police Department before retiring in May 2017 and is currently a Reserve Dallas Police Officer in Dallas, TX. He spent over fourteen years in the Narcotics Division as an undercover officer. For five years, Byron was assigned to the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a Task Force Officer to investigate transnational criminal organizations impacting the Southwest Border of the United States. These investigations involved drug trafficking, extortions, kidnappings, and homicides.

The Corvallis Police Department is committed to professional policing and is proud to partner with the Oregon Peace Officers Association to make this training available.

Instructors:

Overview: This class will provide First Responders an understanding of the dynamics of trauma, especially as it impacts males and intersects with culture, law enforcement, and the mental health system. With an emphasis on Law Enforcement/Corrections interactions, the presenters will utilize experiential learning strategies, methods on engagement, communication, de-escalation and compliance, and incorporate case studies and examples as applicable. The range of topics to be addressed include: the neurobiology of trauma, the effects of trauma for males, identification of undisclosed or unrealized trauma in incarcerated males, and professional awareness of vicarious traumatization and burn-out in First Responders. Self-care as a foundational priority for First Responders will also be addressed.

Learning Objectives

*Identify four common approaches in ethical engagement of traumatized males.

*Describe four barriers that prevent traumatized males from engaging in productive communication and relationships.

*Identify three ethical bases for First Responders engaging in self-care and developing resiliency.

Presenters:

Sherry L. Harden, Psy.D., ABPP

In practice for 23 years, Dr. Harden began specializing in services to First Responders and Public Safety Agencies in 1998, after graduating from George Fox University. She graduated from WCSO Reserve Academy the same year she was licensed as a psychologist in Oregon (2000), and continued as a Special Deputy as the Team Psychologist for the WCSO CNU. Dr. Harden provides evaluations, therapy, consultation, and training for (primarily) public safety individuals, families, and organizations. She also provides supervision for Psychologist Residents and students. She has had the opportunity to attend FBI Negotiator school in Quantico (2000), conduct evaluations in Antarctica (2004), and present research in Singapore (2016). Her current passion involves research and training in ethics, ethical failures and their causes, and the effects of trauma on first responders' decision-making and emotional health.

Instructors: Public safety leaders from police, corrections or fire agencies in Oregon

Overview: International Public Safety Leadership and Ethics Institute (IPSLEI) Leadership Development Program

When: Twelve (12) class dates scheduled on select Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays between February and May 2018. The specific class dates are:

*February 27, 28, March 1

*March 27, 28, 29

*May 1, 2, 3

*May 29, 30, 31

The IPSLEI Leadership Development Program is a unique training opportunity that requires dedication and passion for learning. The course is designed to develop the leadership skills in current or imminent supervisors/managers to lead the future of public safety agencies in Oregon. Through a variety of learning methodologies such as written case studies, video analysis and interactive activities, students will not only study leadership but experience it within a learning environment. The program consists of four modules:

*Developing a Personal Philosophy of Leadership

*Leading Others Ethically

*Organizational Leadership

*Ethics and the Challenge of Leadership

The coursework is intense and demanding; completion will require the commitment of the student and their agency. Students will likely spend as much time working outside the classroom as they do in the classroom, with reading and writing assignments required for course completion.

Training hours earned in this program can be used to satisfy significant portions of the training requirements for Supervisory, Management or Executive certification through DPSST. Lower division undergraduate credit is available through Chemeketa Community College.

Prerequisites: Recommendation from student's chief executive

Registration: Cost: Free; student or student's agency must purchase books and study materials (approx. $350.00).
Deadline to Register: January 5, 2018.

NOTE: This class is limited to 20 students. To Register: To apply, complete the following and submit to

Instructors:

Overview: 48-hour Tactical Combat Casualty Care Course (TCCC) Decrease Preventable Officer/Tactical Operator Deaths
Course Designer: Dr. Mike Shertz MD/18D

TCCC launched a total reassessment of practices with one common goal: Decrease Preventable Combat Death at the point of wounding. These new strategies based on historical wounding patterns in combat also bear a particular relevance to the operators of Tactical Law Enforcement who share many operational parallels with their military counterparts.

Instead of the civilian-based approaches of the past, integrated strategies specific to combat realities continue to emerge. Compared to standard pre-hospital treatment modalities, which are fundamentally based on blunt trauma, TCCC distinguishes itself from the norm by focusing primarily on the intrinsic tactical variables of penetrating trauma compounded by prolonged evacuation times.

Today, TCCC has become the standard of care for the tactical management of combat casualties within the Department of Defense and is the sole standard of care dually endorsed by both the American College of Surgeons and the National Association of EMT's for casualty management in tactical environments.

TCCC is built around three definitive phases of casualty care:

Care Under Fire:

Care rendered at the scene of the injury while both the medic and the casualty are under hostile fire. Available medical equipment is limited to that carried by each operator and the medic.

Tactical Field Care:

Care rendered once the casualty is no longer under effective hostile fire. Medical equipment is still limited to that carried into the field by mission personnel. Time prior to evacuation may range from a few minutes to many hours.

Tactical Evacuation Care (TACEVAC):

3/5-3/9/2018

Class Title: 48-hour Tactical Combat Casualty Care Course (TCCC)

Care rendered while the casualty is evacuated to a higher echelon of care. Any additional personnel and medical equipment pre-staged in these assets will be available during this phase.

Topics will include, but are not limited to:

- *Wounding patterns seen in tactical operations
- *Care priorities during the care under fire, tactical field care, and casualty evacuation phases
- *Hemorrhage control options - tourniquets, wound packing, and hemostatic agents/ dressings
- *Airway management positioning, airway adjuncts (nasal pharyngeal, King LT), surgical airways
- *Management of penetrating chest trauma - needle decompression, occlusive dressings
- *Proper use of intravenous / intraosseous access, appropriate administration of Hextend and IV fluid
- *Casualty movement - manual carries, drags, evacuation with Talon II and Skedco litters
- *Role of pain management and antibiotics in a tactical environment

Prerequisites: Active law enforcement, military, military contractor, or firefighter ID. This course was designed to an EMT level education so it is recommended that all students have some type of EMS first responder level training prior to attending.

Instructors: Byron Boston, Dallas Police Department (Ret.)

Overview: Now more than ever, police officers must learn to balance aggressive crime fighting strategies with an understanding that their actions may be perceived as racial profiling, civil rights violations, criminal offenses, or as mistreatment of citizens in the communities they are sworn to protect and serve. It is the front line patrol officer & supervisor who are at the greatest risk of a hostile encounter. THIS IS NOT A TRADITIONAL TRAINING CLASS and this course is NOT designed to create an atmosphere of passive or reactive policing.

This one day course will help officers identify & understand the problem, communicate more effectively with minorities, ensure compliance with federal & state laws, prepare for hostile encounters, and continue to engage in proactive policing without jeopardizing their safety. This course will focus on bridging the gap between law enforcement and minorities, while maintaining smart, aggressive strategies to deal with those that choose to violate the law. Topics covered include, but are not limited to an overview of movements/protest, Preparation for Hostile Encounters, Tactical De-escalation Techniques (Overview), Understanding DOJ Consent Decree, Communicating More Effectively with Minorities, Building Community Trust, True Officer Safety Consideration, and more.

Byron Boston served twenty years with Dallas Police Department before retiring in May 2017 and is currently a Reserve Dallas Police Officer in Dallas, TX. He spent over fourteen years in the Narcotics Division as an undercover officer. For five years, Byron was assigned to the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a Task Force Officer to investigate transnational criminal organizations impacting the Southwest Border of the United States. These investigations involved drug trafficking, extortions, kidnappings, and homicides.

The Corvallis Police Department is committed to professional policing and is proud to partner with the Oregon Peace Officers Association to make this training available.

Overview: This course will arm you with the necessary skills to conduct a thorough traffic crash investigation and properly document your findings for courtroom presentation.

We will show you the proper procedure for measuring, scale diagraming, and photographing in order to record physical evidence and essential facts available only at the crash scene.

You will learn the fundamentals of mathematical equations to apply for the type of crash being investigated. Finally, you will learn to analyze the information to determine what happened before, during, and after the collision.

Controlled experiments with skidding vehicles and other projects throughout the course will allow you to apply these concepts to actual field situations.

IPTM's At-Scene Traffic Crash/Traffic Homicide Investigations will prepare you for a variety of advanced and specialty courses in traffic crash investigations.

Topics include:

- *Physical evidence from the roadway
- *Physical evidence from the vehicle
- *The human element and occupant kinematics
- *Mathematical principles and equations
- *Skid marks and vehicle speeds
- *Crash scene photography

For the first time ever...a DT system allowing your officers to be effective if they are NOT martial artists, athletes, or bigger, stronger, and more capable than the suspects they arrest. This course provides every officer with the ability to maximize their existing attributes and skills in reasonably and effectively taking resisting suspect's into custody.

This practical seminar provides your agency instructor with:

- Proven "Integrated Combatives Problem-Solving" © featuring the "Universal Rules & Principles of Combatives"©
- ZERO martial arts - no complicated Aikido/jujitsu/wrestling/strength-based techniques
- Real world force response and suspect control from the average officer's perspective with real world applications.
- World-class instruction by a world-class trainer and instructional staff.
- Instructors are taught to teach a gross-motor skill and principle-based course in achievable training concepts.
- A "non-technical," legally defensible, comprehensive defensive tactics system that really is, for the first time, useful for the average officer in real-world situations.
- Functional Real-World Defense Skills: Takedowns, Defensive Tactics, Police Ground Combatives, Arrest & Control, Weapon Retention & Takeaways, Knife Defense, & Multiple Officer Takedowns.

Instructors: Course Manager: TBA

Overview: The Oregon Drug Evaluation & Classification Program has received national acclaim for its success in identifying the drug-impaired driver. Officers trained as Drug Recognition Experts (DREs) are frequently called upon to differentiate between drug influence and medical and/or mental disorders. The certified DRE is a critical tool in combating the adverse impact of drug and alcohol impaired driving in our communities.

DRE School is demanding. To receive certification as a DRE, three phases of training must be completed. The following summarizes each phase:

ACADEMIC TRAINING (Phase I & II): This phase is conducted over nine days (72 hours). It includes courses in physiology, vital signs, standardized field sobriety testing (SFST), and extensive material on each of the seven categories of the drugs of abuse. The training includes three written examinations, an SFST proficiency examination and five written quizzes. Students must achieve a minimum of 80% on each examination, and must demonstrate proficiency in administering SFSTs.

CERTIFICATION PHASE (Phase III): After successfully completing the academic portion, the students must complete the certification phase. Certification Training is tentatively scheduled for June 12th-16th and June 17th-21st, 2018 in Portland, OR. Students will attend one of the training weeks in Portland. Depending on the size of the class, one week option will be canceled and the groups will combine. This is an additional five days of required training after phase 1 & 2. At this time, the above certification dates are the only dates available in Oregon for 2018. With the recommendation of the DRE State Coordinator, out of state certification training is an option, but will be at the expense of the student's agency.

It is the student's responsibility to attend and complete the certification requirements within six months following DRE School. The requirements include: conducting a minimum of 12 drug influence evaluations while under the supervision of a DRE instructor; identifying subjects under the influence, and attaining a 80% toxicological confirmation rate. Written reports will be submitted to the DRE instructor observing the evaluation for review and approval. In addition, the student must maintain an accurate progress certification log, DRE rolling log and submit a curriculum vitae. Lastly, the student must pass a comprehensive final knowledge examination, and obtain the written endorsement from two certified DRE instructors and the DRE State Coordinator before obtaining certification and IACP credentials.

Class Title: 2018 Oregon Drug Recognition Expert School

The International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) and the Oregon DECP Policies and Procedures are the regulating body for Oregon's DRE Program. Certification and credentials are valid for two years. In order to maintain certification, DRE's must conduct a minimum of four evaluations (one observed in front of an instructor) every two years, submit an updated rolling log and curriculum vitae, and attend a minimum of 8-hours of recertification training.

To be considered for DRE training, the applicant must meet the following criteria:

- *Must have a minimum of two years of law enforcement service.
- *Must be off probation with your agency. (exception for recent lateral transfers)
- *Must be working in patrol.
- *Must be SFST, D.I.D. (Drugs That Impair Driving) and Intoxilyzer 8000 certified.
- *A reasonable background and experience conducting DUII investigations.
- *A written recommendation from your local prosecutor.
- *Written recommendations from two local DREs.
- *Submit a minimum of two actual DUII arrest reports for review.

Prerequisites: see 'Overview'

Registration: Visit the Oregon DECP website at <http://www.oregon.gov/osp/PATROL/Pages/DRE-Program.aspx> to download an application and review DECP training policies.

Submit completed applications on/before February 2nd, 2018 by mail to: Oregon DRE Program, Oregon State Police - General Headquarters, 3565 Trelstad Ave SE Salem, OR 97317. Selection Process: All applications and materials submitted will be reviewed by the State and Regional Coordinators for selection. Applicants will be notified via email within two weeks following the application deadline.

Cost: $1,095.00

Instructors:

Overview: Building upon the theories and techniques learned in IPTM's At-Scene Traffic Crash/Homicide Investigation course, this class will delve into the advanced concepts of traffic crash investigations. More complex vehicle dynamics like acceleration/deceleration, factor, rate and airborne situations will be explored. You will learn to estimate speeds from falls, vaults, and flips and the calculation of kinetic energy and linear momentum. You'll also learn to evaluate vehicle behaviors during the collision.

Much of the coursework will be spent using acceleration/deceleration factors and perception/reaction times to determine time/ distance relationships for colliding vehicles.

Topics Include: *Speed estimates from kinetic energy, skidmarks, scuffmarks and airborne situations
*Vehicle dynamics and motion *Time, distance, and motion equations *Conservation of momentum equations *Center of mass calculation *Vehicle lamp examination *Tire damage evaluation *Vector sum analysis

Prerequisites: You must have completed IPTM's At-Scene Traffic Crash/Traffic Homicide Investigation course or its equivalent.

Cost: $1,095.00

Instructors:

Overview: Traffic Crash Reconstruction builds upon IPTM's Advanced Traffic Crash Investigation course by assisting you further in understanding vehicle dynamics. You will take part in a more intense study of time/distance calculations, two-dimensional momentum and impact speed calculations using momentum equations.

Topics include: *Derivation and origin of the commonly used speed formulas *Speed of vehicles at impact using conservation of linear momentum *Behavior of vehicles in a collision using Newton's three laws of motion *Discussions of commercial vehicle and motorcycle dynamics in collisions *The determination of direction of travel, initial contact and position of vehicles on the roadway

This course includes extensive project work and controlled vehicle experiments to give you firsthand experience in crash reconstruction. Each student will be required to diagram and analyze three different crash scenarios as well as complete vector sum analysis of each.

Prerequisites: Because of the highly technical subject matter, it is mandatory for you to have successfully completed IPTM's Advanced Traffic Crash Investigation (80 hours) course or its equivalent.

This training course offers a broad range of cutting-edge methods and proprietary tools to conduct more effective interviews and interrogations, resulting in identifying the truth more efficiently and with less resistance. Using actual investigations this course offers a diverse collection of case studies to providing strategic tactics to establish guilt, substantiate confessions and prosecute the offenders.

SEMINAR TOPICS INCLUDE:

- Selective Interview Technique
- Fact-Finding Interview
- The Participatory Method
- False Confessions
- WZ Non-Confrontational Method

ADVANCED WORKSHOP ON INTERVIEWING TECHNIQUES

The 1-day WZ Advanced Workshop on Interview & Interrogation Techniques utilizes practical exercises, new concepts/techniques and psychological principals to enhance the law enforcement officer's ability to obtain legally acceptable confessions and to tailor their criminal interviews for maximum advantage. The purpose of the course is to offer participants, who have attended a basic introductory interview and interrogation course, with an opportunity to practice techniques in a workshop environment. This interactive workshop allows participants to work through actual case studies applying techniques taught by the instructor in real-world situations.
