

Patient-Centered Primary Care Institute

The Patient-Centered Primary Care Institute advances Patient-Centered Primary Care Home (PCPCH) practice transformation in Oregon by bringing together technical experts, health care providers and staff, patient advisors, policymakers, health plans, academic centers and other stakeholders to increase the capacity and quality of technical assistance services and share valuable knowledge and resources. The Patient-Centered Primary Care Institute is a public-private partnership between the Oregon Health Authority, Oregon Health Care Quality Corporation, and the Northwest Health Foundation.

The Institute provides a broad array of technical assistance to practices in all stages of transformation, from those looking to begin the transformation process to recognized primary care homes looking to improve their performance in one or several areas. The Institute not only helps practices to meet the requirements for PCPCH recognition but also to move beyond the checklist and realize Triple Aim outcomes.

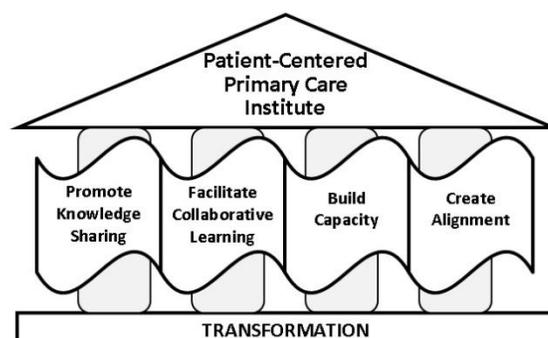

Objectives

Promote knowledge sharing through a comprehensive website with easy access to tools, resources, online learning, best practice information and networking opportunities

Facilitate collaborative learning using a network of technical assistance providers who provide face-to-face learning and practice facilitation to selected practices

Build capacity for ongoing primary care transformation by offering opportunities for technical assistance providers to collaborate and deploy resources collectively through networking and train-the-trainer programs

Create alignment by coordinating efforts with other practice transformation initiatives in Oregon to leverage resources, maximize benefits for practices and accelerate transformation

Key Strategies

The Institute will achieve these objectives by developing a comprehensive technical assistance website, hosting monthly webinars on core practice transformation topics, forming a Learning Collaborative to provide face-to-face learning opportunities and individualized coaching to select practices, and establishing a train-the-trainer program for quality improvement professionals.
