

Getting the Word Out About SBHCs and the Importance of Well-Child Care: Highlight of Educational Materials and Strategies

SBHC Coordinators Meeting Webinar

March 16, 2016 @ 11am-12pm

Colleen Reuland, MS

Oregon Pediatric Improvement Partnership

www.oregon-pip.org

Agenda for Today

1. Review project goal for educational materials developed and tested with youth
2. Overview of key findings from youth engagement about what words to use, what information to provide, and what ways information should be shared
3. Overview of materials developed and being disseminated in two pilot SBHCs and learnings to date
4. Highlight of specific materials available for other SBHCs to modify and use within their own schools

Quick Project Overview:

Improving Access to and Quality of Adolescent Well-Care Services Through Partnerships With SBHCs

Project is funded by OEGB/MODA Health Grant to OPIP.

Project Aim:

- To improve the provision of adolescent well-visits at a community-level by leveraging partnerships with School Based Health Centers (SBHCs)

Objectives:

- To provide on-site training and support to pilot SBHCs ($N=2$)
- To develop educational materials for adolescents and their parents that provide information about why well-care is important, what to expect, and the unique role SBHCs can play in providing well-child care.
- To develop and assess models for enhancing the SBHC's population management and care coordination with primary care practices.
- To identify policy-level improvements that address barriers and incentives identified through the project.

Quick Project Overview:

Improving Access to and Quality of Adolescent Well-Care Services Through Partnerships With SBHCs

OPIP's Process of Development of Educational Materials for Youth

Development process:

A. Background review and collection of current educational materials

- Literature review and online search for existing materials, including what CCOs may be using and the Nationally AAP and Bright Futures.

B. Feedback from youth and stakeholders

- 5 in-person meetings held with youth to obtain feedback, additional feedback collected via email
- Oregon Statewide Youth Action Council (SYAC), part of OSBHA
- SBHC pilot sites: Tigard High SBHC/Virginia Garcia, and Pendleton High SBHC/Umatilla County
- Youth advisory groups in pilot schools: Tigard's Student Health Advisory Council (SHAC), and Pendleton's Gay-Straight Alliance (GSA).
- OHA Office of Adolescent Health, OSBHA

Learnings & Feedback from Youth to Inform OPIP's Development of Educational Materials

EIGHT Key learnings from youth for OPIP when developing materials:

1. Empowering, Partnership Centered

- Teens want to be recognized as young adults.
- Avoid authoritative tones such as “you should...” and words like “child” or “adolescent”
- Emphasize “collaboration” and “partnership”
- Promote use of welcoming phrases like “we will never judge you”, and “we will listen to you”

2. Use of facts and statistics, help them see themselves in the statistics

- High value on facts and statistics for teen engagement
- Helps normalize issues, minimize stigmas, promotes awareness
- When statistics are used, include a follow-up of available options for next steps
- Top statistics identified by teens: sexual health, mental health, and physical health

3. Highlight Privacy and confidentiality

- Big concern is that privacy will be breached. Students will avoid services if they are not aware of the SBHC policies and processes, so important to highlight this in the materials

4. Highlight Billing and insurance

- Addresses questions students may have but are embarrassed to ask based on insurance/financial situation
- For uninsured: include phrasing that the student will still be seen even without insurance and/or on sliding payment scale
- For insured: students still appreciate knowing that their insurance will be accepted at the SBHC

Learnings & Feedback from Youth to Inform OPIP's Development of Educational Materials

Eight Key learnings from youth for OPIP when developing materials:

5. Describe WHAT they can get – be specific so their specific issue is listed

- List the types of health services available during a well-care visit
- Gives a preview for what students can expect ahead of time, and alleviates anxieties of being turned away
- Key items identified by teens: guidance for healthy relationships, bullying, emotional health and wellness, sexual health, sports physicals

6. Be clear about the location, staff, hours, and contact information

- Convenience in access to SBHC services huge! Don't need to worry about transportation or missing school.
- Decreases student's overutilization of urgent care/ER or going home when not feeling well
- Location, phone number, hours of operation, and clinical staff very important
- Helpful to also include picture of SBHC staff and/or picture of the SBHC building for easy recognition

7. Think about how it looks – and ask a teen how it looks, what makes us want read it

- Have a balance in amount of text vs blank space: too much text will be skimmed over, but too little will miss important concepts
- Inclusion of school logos allows students to identify SBHC as part of high school and not an outside entity
- Consider additional items such as QR codes, or rainbow pride triangle to promote inclusiveness

8. Use multiple mediums and use people – no one approach will work

- Use various methods and approaches, not just handouts because already flooded with paper
- Posters, flyers, table tents, health classes, pocket cards, social media, fun props like pencils/stress balls

Educational Materials Used by the SBHCs

Going for breadth & depth to grab teen on issues most important to them.

- 1st Round of Materials (Winter 2015 – Spring 2016):
 - Poster about the SBHC generally
 - Poster/Flyer about Services You Can Get at SBHC Aligned with Well-Visits
 - Business cards with SBHC contact information and health facts
 - Color-changing “mood” pencils with SBHC contact information
 - Table tents with SBHC contact information and health facts for lunch tables
 - QR codes that link to specific websites relevant to the SBHC
 - Instagram Posts
 - Twitter Posts
- Given materials were disseminated in school, needed to get necessary approvals and staff within the school to “buy-in”
- Importance of the People Delivering Their Message – Their Peers!!
- Exploring how this type of information can be incorporated into Health Class

Educational Materials Used by the SBHCs

Learning from Phase 1

- Tracking visit rates at SBHC
- Focus groups - students and key stakeholders will be interviewed
- Input will be used to modify/enhance Round 2 materials for the Fall of the next school year
- Implement Round 2 September-December 2016

Posters & Handouts

Two versions:

1. Yellow SBHC poster: Contains general information about the SBHC as a first step to enhance awareness about the SBHC as a resource for students.
2. Green AWC poster/handout: Contains more specific information about the importance of annual Adolescent Well Care visits and the types of services offered at the SBHC.

Dissemination Strategies:

- Pendleton SBHC used both versions of the materials.
 - Yellow SBHC posters – Posted around school campus in high traffic areas (water fountain, cafeteria, gym, hallway, admin office, etc.).
 - Green AWC version was used as a handout/flyer and were posted on the bathroom stalls.
 - Handed out by providers to encourage students to make an AWC appointment.
- Tigard SBHC
 - Posters were hung around school campus in what are considered the high traffic areas.

Current Learnings & Differences Between the SBHCs:

Content and Language: Understanding the Community Culture

- Mental Health terminology:

- Pendleton SBHC preferred to use the term “Counselors” when referring to the title of their SBHC Mental Health providers.
 - Trying to destigmatize the thought of receiving mental health counseling services versus academic counselling which is required for all students (among both students and school staff).
- Tigard SBHC used the titles “Qualified Mental Health Professional” or “Mental Health Professional” in their materials.
- Mental health services were referred to as “emotional health and wellness/feelings” in the list of common SBHC services provided, as teens identified this to be more welcoming terminology with less stigma associated with it.

- Sexual Health, STDs, and Pregnancy:

- Within the rural community, sexual health was identified as a sensitive topic, so references to this topic were purposefully not included in their educational materials for that community.

- Safe Space/Pride Triangle logo:

- Similar to sexual health, this was also identified a sensitive topic for the rural community, so this logo was purposefully not included in their educational materials for that community.

Current Learnings & Differences Between the SBHCs:

Logos, QR Codes, and Social Media:

- High School logos vs SBHC Sponsor logos:

- Consider the difference between the high school that houses the SBHC, and the sponsoring organization of the SBHC.
- May be two different entities with different logos, so it is important to find out what branding strategies need to be incorporated into the educational materials early in development.

- QR Codes:

- Pendleton SBHC did not feel QR codes would be overly helpful if distributed independently.
 - A single QR code linking to the Umatilla County SBHC website was incorporated as a bonus item onto their other materials.
- Tigard will be incorporating the QR code once their website is updated.

- Use of Twitter, Instagram, and/or SBHC websites on materials:

- Determine which social media outlets are available that can be used and incorporated
- Look into what classes and skill sets are already available within your school (e.g. student social media or graphic design clubs)
