SALISBURY, Sept. 26 (Special)—Furnishings for the new state capitol building here will arrive in Salem next week, officials of the capitol reconstruction commission announced Tuesday.

The furnishings will cost about $30,000. They were purchased through a Portland concern. Other furnishings will be added later.

Placing gold leaf on the "Pioneer statue," now atop the new capitol, will cost between $400 and $500, officials estimated.

The work of gold leafing the statue was expected to begin soon.

The statue was placed on its pedestal Monday and is visible for several miles in either direction of Salem.
