Klamath Basin Adjudication
Prospective Pre-1909 Water Right Claimant

WATER RESOURCES DEPARTMENT

Dear Claimant:

Our records show that you intend to file a claim in the Klamath River adjudication.

Enclosed is an official NOTICE TO FILE CLAIM in the Klamath River adjudication. This NOTICE sets out the 1996-97 claiming period and the time and location for filing of claims.

The initial Klamath River adjudication claiming period ran from October 15, 1990 to February 1, 1991. However, as a result of a federal law suit, individuals and irrigation districts who receive water through the United States Bureau of Reclamation Klamath Project were not required to claim in 1990-91. The law suit is over, and Klamath Project water users are now required to submit their claims.

If you have already filed a claim in this adjudication in 1990-91, you are not allowed to file a second claim for the same use, and therefore you may disregard this 1996 NOTICE. We are sending this 1996 NOTICE only to individuals we have identified as using Project water.

IF YOU RECEIVE PROJECT WATER AND HAVE NOT ALREADY FILED A CLAIM, YOU SHOULD FILE DURING THE CLAIMING PERIOD SET OUT IN THE ENCLOSED NOTICE. A claim form is enclosed. Please note that you must submit the required fee with your claim.

It is possible that your irrigation district may file a claim on your behalf. You should consult with your irrigation district manager or a board member to avoid filing twice for the same water use. If you have questions concerning this 1996 NOTICE, the claiming process or the required fee, please contact one of the following at the Oregon Water Resources Department:

You may file ONE Statement and Proof of Claim if you have one or more uses but only one priority date on contiguous property. You must file a separate form for each different priority date or each different property.

The claim should be made in the name which the water right will be issued.

- I. If you are here because you have a valid surface water right and you only want to be notified as the adjudication progresses, you will write no in I.A and complete I.B. Sign this in the presence of the notary and you are finished.

If you are here because you wish to claim a surface water right, write yes in I.A and go to 1.

1. You divert water from a SOURCE, which is TRIBUTARY to the next bigger body of water downstream. For example, Reservation Spring is tributary to Fort Creek, which is tributary to Wood River.
2. You may have one use, a combination of uses, or many uses. Your fees are based on the uses you claim. Ask if you have a question. For a livestock use, list the kind as well as the number.
3. Enter the amount of water you use (gallons per minute, cubic feet per second, etc.) and for how long (24 hours per day, 2 days per week, etc.). The Water Resources Director will recommend to the court a standard water allowance for all ordinary water uses. This is your chance to influence what might be recommended.
4. The water right is based on an action, either actual diversion and appropriation for a beneficial use, a physical occupation of the land with the intention of using water, a notice to the world that such appropriation will be made, or a reservation by the Federal Government of an amount of water. Your priority date will be the date this action was taken. You must be specific. A claim of "prior to February 24, 1909" will result in a priority date of Feb. 24, 1909.
5. We need to be able to compute the maximum amount of water you can divert. Please complete only the sections which apply to your situation.
  - A) DITCH: describe the smallest section
  - B) PIPELINE: self explanatory
  - C) PUMP: describe each pump. No. refers to the model number.

D) & E) only apply when (C) PUMP is completed.
F) & G) refer to a pressure irrigation system if present.

7. In the instructions on the claim form (see item 10) should be (see item 11).
10. If you are claiming more than one use don't forget to enter a season of use for each. Irrigation typically is only for a portion of the year, domestic or stock typically runs year around.
11. The department's maps show the water use found by our field engineers at the time they interviewed claimants. Review the maps and check that the water uses you claim are shown completely. You may attach a tax plat to this claim which clearly defines your parcel of land within a larger area shown on the department's map.

Any change in use as mapped, either an increase or a decrease, must be accompanied by a map prepared and stamped by a licensed surveyor or engineer.

12. This is a written legal description, not a tax lot number from your tax statement. Attach a copy of the deed.

FEES: Your fee is based on state law. You will not be asked for another fee later in the adjudication. YOUR ACCOUNT MAY BE CREDITED IF you have acquired a water right permit or certificate prior to this adjudication for the same use of the same water in the same place as you are now claiming. If such is the case, any fees which you previously paid will be credited to your claim. Please be sure to mention this when your fees are being computed.

KLAMATH BASIN

WATER RIGHTS ADJUDICATION

>> HOW TO FILE A CLAIM <<

WHAT AREA IS BEING ADJUDICATED?

In 1975, Director of the Water Resources Department filed a notice to begin an adjudication of the pre-1909 and federal reserved water rights of the Klamath River and its tributaries. All water right holders and claimants within the Klamath Basin will be bound by this final adjudication.

Portions of the Klamath Basin have been previously adjudicated. These previously adjudicated areas include: the North and South Forks of the Sprague River, Anna Creek, Cherry Creek, Four-Mile Creek, Seven-Mile Creek and the Wood River. The Lost River is not considered to be part of the Klamath River drainage basin in Oregon. Claims to use water in the previously adjudicated areas, including the Lost River, may not be filed.

In addition, all persons using surface water in the Klamath Basin outside the United States Bureau of Reclamation Klamath Project were required to file claims during the 1990-91 claiming period. THEREFORE, ONLY THOSE PERSONS RECEIVING WATER THROUGH THE KLAMATH PROJECT OR CLAIMING A FEDERAL RESERVED WATER RIGHT ARE PERMITTED TO FILE A CLAIM AT THIS TIME.

WHO MAY FILE A CLAIM IN THE KLAMATH ADJUDICATION?

You may file a claim if:

1. You claim to have the right to use surface water in the United States Bureau of Reclamation Klamath Project area; or
2. You have a claim to a federal reserved water right.

WHAT IF I RECEIVE WATER FROM AN IRRIGATION DISTRICT?

Irrigation districts may choose to file a claim for all of their members and customers. A water right will be allowed only once for each valid claim. Therefore, you should check with your irrigation district to determine if your property is within a district or is served by a district and will be part of a district claim.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER I FILE THE CLAIM?

The Water Resources Department reviews each claim to determine if it is complete and accurate. All claims and maps are gathered together. Those who are participants in the claiming process, and all individuals who hold water right permits or certificates, may file contests against any other person's claim. Contests are resolved either by the concerned parties or as a result of separate hearings. Findings will be prepared by the Department and submitted to the Klamath County Circuit Court. The Court may hold hearing and will eventually issue a final decree setting out all the vested and federal reserved water rights. There will be an opportunity to appeal the Court's decree.

WHAT SHOULD I DO NOW?

If you use water in the Klamath Project, or if you are a federal reserved water right claimant, you may file a claim as an individual or as part of a district. If you wish to file your own claim, complete the enclosed form and bring it with you during one of the times on the enclosed NOTICE TO FILE CLAIM.

Your claim must include the information requested on the form. Generally, water used in the Klamath Project is considered to have been first used on the date the United States filed its notice to appropriate the Klamath River waters for the Project.

A large number of water uses in the Klamath Basin have been mapped by the Water Resources Department. The maps were prepared as a result of persons filing a notice of intent to file a claim in 1977. You should check the mapped area and Department files for your property at the time you file your claim. If your property has not been mapped, you must have a map prepared by an engineer, surveyor or a certified water rights examiner.

The facts of your claim should be documented as best you can with copies of deeds, contracts and/or easements. Proof of water uses may include statements from persons who know about the historical uses, letters, county records of intent to use water, or other documents from the original developers of the water use. If you are a Klamath Project water user or an irrigation district in the Klamath Project, the United States notice to appropriate filed in 1905 will serve as evidence of your priority date. You must pay the fees listed below at the time you file your claim.

WHAT USES OF WATER CAN I CLAIM?

Only water that is beneficially used without waste can be claimed. Examples of such uses may include:

1. Domestic use;
2. Stock water for animals;
3. Irrigation of plants;
4. Commercial, industrial or mining; and
5. Other uses, as can be documented.

WHAT FEES MUST BE SUBMITTED WITH MY CLAIM?

When you file a claim you must pay a fee. The following is a summary of the fee schedule (see ORS 539.081):

For irrigation uses:       $2.00 for each acre of irrigated lands up to 100 acres.
                              $1.00 for each acre over 100 acres.
                              The minimum fee for an irrigation claim is $30.00.

For Power use:               $2.00 for each theoretical horsepower (thp) up to 100 thp,
                              $0.50 for each thp over 100 thp up to 500 thp,
                              $0.35 for each thp over 500 thp up to 1000 thp, and
                              $0.25 for each thp over 1000 thp.

For all other uses:         $200.00 for the first cubic foot per second of water use or fraction thereof, and $50.00 for each additional cubic foot per second.

WHAT HAPPENS IF I MISS THE FILING DEADLINE (April 30, 1997)?

If you fail to file during the times listed in the enclosed NOTICE, you will be stopped from making any claim for a pre-1909 or federal reserved water right and will have forfeited the right to the use of water under any such right.
