

Mulak Man

A long time ago there was a man who had a wisdom about elk.

They said he knew them in his heart and soul.

Wherever he was he always could sense them.

Whatever he was doing, if he sensed the elk, he would stop and would immediately go to hunt them.

When he followed the elk, he didn't want to wear much clothing.

He would remove one item of clothing at a time and fold each item up neatly and place them as he followed the elk.

If someone was in the forest and saw a neatly folded piece of clothing, they would know that mulak man had been there.

When mulak man would find an elk, he would kill it with his bow and honor the animal by utilizing all of the parts of the elk.

He would smoke the elk meat.

Then he would carefully place the bones in a neat pile in the forest and leave them there.

Someday, should someone find this pile of bones they will know "ah, yes a long time ago, the malak man was here".
