What is the Federal-Aid Highway Construction Contractors' Annual EEO Report (FHWA-1391)?

- This collection of information is required by law and regulation 23USC 140a and 23CFR Part 230.
- Every column of the report must be completed to identify the number of people you employ, the primary trade in which they work, their race and gender, and their classification as a journey worker, an apprentice, or on-the-job trainee.
- Count each employee once for the last full pay period ending anytime within the month of July 2019. Report on the last week worked during the month, not necessarily the last week. Example: If there were employees working only the 2nd week of July, then you would report on that week. If they were working the 2nd and 4th week, you would report on the 4th week.
