The Driver Suspension Unit will review your application and notify you of any additional requirements you must complete before a permit can be issued. If you have additional requirements and you do not comply with all requirements within 60 days, your application will be denied and you will need to re-apply for the permit, which includes submitting all new documents and $50 application fee.

Once your application is approved and all requirements are met, DMV will mail you a restriction letter. Take the restriction letter to a DMV field office to obtain a restricted driver license. Your driving privileges are not valid until you have obtained both the restriction letter mailed from Headquarters and a driver license with a “J” restriction code issued at a field office.

Please keep a copy of your application and any documents you submit to DMV.
