

OCTPS Survey, Stakeholder Email Notice

June 27, 2019

Subject:

Tell ODOT About Truck Parking Problems in Oregon

Body:

ODOT is studying ways to improve commercial truck parking for driver rest periods in Oregon and needs your input. Take a 10 minute survey at the link below and tell us about your experiences. Your answers will help determine potential truck parking solutions throughout the state.

Take the PARKING SURVEY

(bit.ly/oregontruckparking)

Available through July 28.

Help spread the word

Please forward the survey link above to anyone who may have input on commercial truck parking for rest periods in Oregon. Contact us (below) if you would like to request hardcopy surveys, posters, or fact sheets with information about the project.

About the Study

The Oregon Commercial Truck Parking Study is exploring truck parking issues for rest periods within key freight corridors. The study will consider capacity, safety and convenience to truck drivers and determine where additional truck parking is needed. The study will help decision makers prioritize projects and allow ODOT to better plan future parking infrastructure that will better serve the trucking industry while supporting Oregon's overall economy.

For more information

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact us:

Mary Augustine, Public Involvement Coordinator

mary.augustine@jla.us.com

503-235-5881