

Oregon Military Department
JFHQ

INTRODUCTION

It is important that we all recognize that safety and health are Everybody's business. One of the major responsibilities of the Oregon Military Department is SAFETY. Any safety concerns should be immediately reported to your supervisor, the director of your section or your Federal or State Safety Manager. Our objective will be to eliminate or minimize exposure to conditions that may result in an injury and or illness to any of our employees and foster an office effort to have the program continue to improve.

This Building's Emergency Action Plan is dedicated to you, our employees. It will assist you in performing your tasks in a safe, productive manner while at the same time, helping us to achieve our objective. For our program to be the best, you must first view it as a program. You are the future! We look forward to a safe and long-term working environment.

RAYMOND F. REES
Major General
The Adjutant General