

Welcome to the Home of the Army National Guard 4133d Regional Trial Defense Team (RTDT)! The 4133d along with other RTDT's was initially established by National Guard Force structure approval memorandum 11 September 2009, and is responsible for managing Army National Guard Trial Defense Counsel and Paralegals supporting the Army National Guard Trial Defense Service (NGTDS) within Eleven Western States and the Pacific Territory of Guam. The TDS is part, however, of the greater Judge Advocate Generals Corps Regiment.

The 4133d RTDT was created by permanent order on 9 November 2009 and the designation of 4133 comes from the 41st Brigade, the 'Sunset Division', now the 41 Infantry Combat Brigade (IBCT) and 33 from Oregon as the 33d State in the Union.

Interested in the Judge Advocate Generals Corps?

If you have interest in being a JAG or Paralegal, or Warrant Officer Legal Administrator for the JAG, there are positions available in the National Guard, Army Reserve and Active Component. For Law Students willing to become a member of the Oregon Army National Guard or already in the Oregon National Guard and intending to be a member of the Oregon State Bar, you can often be approved as a Law Clerk pending completion of Law School and passing the Bar exam. For those already with their Law Degree, for the National Guard you must be a member of the State Bar of the State National Guard which you join. With changes in 'reciprocity' this has become easier to obtain without multiple bar exams. For Federal Service with the Active Army or the Army Reserve you must merely be a licensed member of a State Bar Association. For the National Guard, typically one should contact the State JAG office at the State Military Department or Joint Forces Headquarters.

For the Oregon Army National Guard JAG, you can contact the State JAG Office. Information which is Oregon specific (though of general use in other States) is available in the linked informational memo. For the Active Component and Army Reserve go to the JAGCNET link above.
