Returning Board Member

OSBEELS Welcomes Back Amin Wahab

Amin Wahab, Public Member, was re-appointed by Governor John A. Kitzhaber, MD, to the Oregon State Board of Examiners for Engineering and Land Surveying (OSBEELS) as a Public Board Member in October 2014. Previously, he served as a Board member from June 2007 to May 2013. Mr. Wahab resigned his membership with OSBEELS and also was granted a one-year leave from his position with the City of Portland to take a one-year assignment as the Water Technical Lead with the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) Office of Agriculture at USAID Mission in Kabul, Afghanistan. Mr. Wahab returned to Oregon in late June 2014.

“My [experience] as the Water Technical Lead with the USAID Mission in Afghanistan has given me a fresh perspective on the role oversight bodies play to safeguard public trust and resources, and ensure ethics in the practice of engineering and land surveying.”

Upon returning to Oregon, Mr. Wahab resumed his current position as an Environmental/Watershed Program Manager for the City of Portland Bureau of Environmental Services (BES). The position has provided him with a valuable skill set in land use, water, watershed management, transportation and sustainability. In addition to the managerial components of his work for the City of Portland BES as the Fanno and Tryon Creek Watershed Manager, Mr. Wahab has provided technical and policy support in environmental analysis, land use planning and development reviews. In addition, his position includes investigating facilities and recommending corrective action and coordinating with engineering services on tasks related to project budgeting, design, permitting and construction. The role also includes project evaluation for consistency with applicable City policies and State and Federal water quality/environmental regulations, among other responsibilities.

Mr. Wahab has held positions with the State of Oregon Water Resources Department and the Port of Portland in the past. His other skill areas include technical and policy support in environmental analysis, land use planning and development reviews, analyzing resource policy and technical issues to recommend amount, rate or season of use, assessing river basin conditions to develop basin plans, water appropriation programs, with projects including the Willamette and Sandy Rivers. Mr. Wahab also has experience conducting field investigations of water rights, use permits and water use.

Mr. Wahab's experience in natural resources, as well as recent time spent abroad, will help provide a fresh perspective on matters the Board may face.

When it comes to the OSBEELS mission: safe-guarding the life, health and property of the people of Oregon, he is passionate about serving the state.

"I am a strong advocate for sound engineering practices in order to assure the best infrastructure for sustained economic development."

After spending time in his field and managing detailed projects, Mr. Wahab is looking forward to playing a constructive and effective role on the Board by representing the public.

Keeping active in the natural resource community, he takes part in various associations and participates in seminars and publications relating to his practice. Throughout his career, Mr. Wahab has been part of many professional affiliations, including the Water Environment Federation, Oregon Association of Clean Water Agencies, Pacific Northwest Clean Water Association, River Management Society of North America and the Northwest Association of Environmental Professionals. He has served on other Committees and Task Forces including the City of Lake Oswego Surface Water Management Plan and Foothills Development Technical Advisory Committees.

Mr. Wahab completed his Engineering Technology degree at the Afghan Institute of Technology and continued his engineering studies at Kabul University (Kabul, Afghanistan) until his studies were interrupted by political turmoil. Mr. Wahab continued to pursue his BS and MS degrees in Physical/Resource Geography from Oregon State University, with a minor in Integrated Geography. His studies included a variety of subjects, including land and water resource processes, development, impact, management and conservation. Other topics included transportation and economic planning. Most recently, Mr. Wahab was awarded a graduate certificate in transportation with a sustainability focus from the Portland State University Center for Transportation Studies.

OSBEELS is pleased to welcome back Mr. Amin Wahab, Public Member, to the Board.

Online License and Exam Verification System

NCEES Stats Update

NCEES officially launched a new license and exam verification system in March 2013, allowing registrants to select the Board they are making an application to and submit a license and/or exam verification. Since the launch in 2013, a steady increase in use of the online system has been reported. As of 18 months since the launch, NCEES reported that around 35,000 verifications have been completed through the system, with the highest week showing 150 completed verifications. 18,670 verifications have been completed for the NCEES Records Program and 16,026 verifications have been completed directly from Board to Board. As of December 2014, 55 Boards currently participate in the program, including OSBEELS. To complete the process, first request verification of your license and examination information through the NCEES License/Exam Verification system and complete the OSBEELS Verification Payment Form at www.oregon.gov/Osbeels/docs/Form/2013_Verification_Payment_fillable.pdf
