It’s illegal for your employer to pay you less than someone else because of your gender, race, veteran status, disability, age, color, religion, national origin (including language), marital status, sexual orientation, or pay history.

Different pay may be allowed if there is a system based on specific factors named in the law including one or more of the following: seniority, merit, a system that measures earnings by quantity or quality of production, workplace location, travel, education, training, or experience.

You’re also protected during the hiring process:
» Employers cannot ask for your salary/pay history before they make an offer of employment
» Employers cannot screen job applicants based on current or past salary/pay history
» Employers cannot determine compensation for a job based on the pay history of a potential new employee (not including internal transfers)

Your employer can’t use pay cuts to make your pay equal with other employees.

If you need to, you can file a complaint at oregon.gov/boli. You could get back pay and the pay difference you are owed going forward.
