

LBP Frequently Asked Questions

What does the rule require other than training/licensing?	The rule requires that properly certified and licensed renovators: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Have at least one certified renovator on staff to oversee renovations, repair, or painting projects• Follow lead-safe work practices to prevent lead contamination• Provide any non-certified workers with on-the-job training• Educate owners/occupants of the structure about lead paint Maintain certain records for three years.
Can I deliver my application in-person?	Yes. The boards office is open Monday to Friday from 8:00am to 4:45pm. We will accept your application packet; however, we generally do not review the materials provided for accuracy or completion at the front counter.
Who is required to sign the LBP application?	The CCB owner/partner/member and RRP Certificate Holder must sign the LBP application. If this is the same person, they must sign in both places. No signature line should be left blank.
What are acceptable attachments?	The following attachments may be required with your application submission: Renovation, Repair & Painting (RRP) Certificate. This is the certificate from an approved provider that includes a photo and a certificate number. The certificate may be paper or a laminated card.
How long will it take to process my application?	Applications can take up to six weeks for initial processing.
How do I check the status of my application?	If there are any concerns with your application, CCB staff may send you a letter via USPS, email, or telephone using the information you provided on the application. You can review the CCB license using our Licensee Search, you will see the LBPR association under the Additional Business Licenses & Certification section of the CCB license record.

What happens if the person who finished the required training leaves my business?	You must see that another employee, or owner, is trained so you can demonstrate that you employ a certified renovator. If you need to update your RRP Certificate Holder, please use the RRP Change form.
Can I test for lead-based paint?	Contractors who hold a Lead-Based Paint Renovation license can test for lead-based paint but must use an approved EPA test kit.
If I'm the general contractor and don't hold a Lead-Based Paint Renovation license, can I subcontract the work to a business that is properly licensed?	No. Even if you are not performing the renovation, offering to perform renovation requires you to hold the Lead-Based Paint Renovation license.
Do I need a Lead-Based Paint Renovation license for total demolition?	No. Renovation does not include demolition, even if the structure is target housing built before 1978. However, you may be subject to waste disposal requirements.
What are the penalties for violating lead regulations?	Under Oregon law, contractors found violating the lead paint renovation rules can be fined up to $5,000 per violation per day. The Construction Contractors Board can suspend a repeat offender's Lead-Based Paint Renovation license. The federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) can impose fines as well as jail time. The EPA can also suspend or revoke a contractor's certification to handle lead paint.