CCB Sweep Of Southern Oregon Coast Uncovers Unlicensed Contractors

Oregon CCB investigators reported 41 alleged violations

Last week, field investigators from the Construction Contractors Board (CCB) conducted a sweep of southern Oregon coast in Curry, Coos and Douglas counties. The sweep began on October 15 and ended on October 19. Field investigators found violations ranging from working without a license to failure to follow lead-based paint license guidelines. Violations were also discovered in transit to and from the counties targeted in the sweep. Altogether, 142 job sites were checked and 41 violations were recorded.

8 Exempt with employees:

- 1 - North Bend
- 1 - Port Orford
- 2 - Bandon
