CCB Newsletter Goes to e-News Format

The CCB newsletter is catching up with technology! Beginning with the October 2009 issue of the Construction Contractors Bulletin Board, the CCB will begin publishing and distributing the newsletter electronically.

“We are excited to go in this new direction,” says Gina Fox, CCB’s Education Manager. “There are many benefits of an electronic newsletter.”

One of the biggest benefits is reducing costs.

The agency prints and mails approximately 45,000 newsletters each quarter at a cost of about $20,000 per quarter.

In addition to the cost savings, getting

Update on CCB Legislation

(At time of printing, the Oregon Legislature was still in session. The outcome of pending bills can be found at www.leg.state.or.us)

The Senate and House committees have been busily working on hundreds of introduced bills since the 75th Oregon Legislature convened in January.

The CCB submitted several bills this session and some highlights of the bills include:

- Streamlining the residential notice requirements,
- Eliminating duplication in the information to contractors timely is another benefit.

For printed newsletters it can take three weeks from production to mail delivery. This can be a problem if there is time-sensitive information.

Ease of making changes for new, important information and storage are other benefits.

Advances in technology and cost savings make decision to have the newsletter available in an electronic format a sound and cost-effective decision.

- Protecting contractor’s personal identifying information.

CCB bills were passed and become effective January 1, 2010. The following is a summary of the bills and what they mean for contractors.

Consumer Protection Notice

Legislation: SB 205, Section 4
The new law clarifies consumer protection notice includes speculative home sales. The old law applied only to residential, custom construction. (Amends ORS 701.330).

Contract Cancellation

Legislation: SB 205, Section 2

The new law permits one-day cancellation only for residential, custom construction. No one-day cancellation applies to contracts to purchase homes built for speculative sale. (Amends ORS 701.310).

Exempt Contractors

Legislation: SB203, sections 2, 3, 6, 7
Contractors that are licensed without employees (“exempt”) may lose their license if they hire employees. (Amends ORS 701.035 and 701.098).

Information Notice to Owner

Legislation: SB 203, section 1

Currently, a contractor must provide an “Information Notice to Owner” if the contract amount is at least $1,000. The new law increases the amount from $1,000 to $2,000. $2,000 is the amount for which a written contract is required. (Amends ORS 87.093).

Lapsed License Renewal

Legislation: SB 203, Sections 4, 5

The period when a license may lapse and still be renewed is extended from one year to two years. (Amends ORS 701.063).

Maintenance Schedule

Legislation: SB 205, Sections 1, 5

The new law removes the requirement that the written contract must acknowledge the maintenance schedule. (Amends ORS 701.305). Contractors must deliver a maintenance schedule when they make a written offer of warranty. (Amends ORS 701.335).

Personal Identifying Information

Legislation: SB 206

A contractor submits certain personal information, including date of birth and driver’s license number, to obtain a license. The new law makes this information confidential. Contractors registered with the federal Securities and Exchange Commission do not need to provide dates of birth and driver’s license numbers for their corporate officers.

Surety Bonds

Legislation: SB 204

In 2007, the legislature created two endorsements for contractors’ licenses – residential and commercial. Each requires a separate bond, either a residential bond or a commercial bond. However, the current law does not cover how the bonds make payment. Under the new law, only residential bonds will pay complaints against residential contractors. Only commercial bonds will pay complaints against commercial contractors.

Warranty Offer

Legislation: SB 205, Section 3

A contractor must offer a warranty for speculative home sales as well as for residential, custom construction projects. (Amends ORS 701.320).

Written Contract

Legislation: SB 203, Section 8

A written contract must contain a “list” of notices rather than a “summary” of notices. (Amends ORS 701.305).

Pending Legislation:

Several bills submitted by others to the legislature and were still pending include:

Interagency Compliance Network

Legislation: House Bill 2815

The new law creates an Interagency Compliance Network. It is made up of Department of Justice, Department of Revenue, Employment Department, Workers’ Compensation Division,

New Board Member

Retired Veterans Affairs Director Jon Mangis has been appointed by Governor Kulongoski to serve as a public member on the Oregon Construction Contractors Board (CCB).

Mangis began his service to Oregonians in 1970 at the Department of Veterans Affairs. He retired in 2003.

Mangis says he was familiar with the CCB because the agency has been housed in the Veteran’s Building for many years.

“My goal in life has always been to do a good job and deal with people honestly in a straight forward fashion,” says Mangis. “I think it has and will work.”

Construction Contractors Bulletin Board ISSUE #74

This newsletter, an official publication of the Oregon Construction Contractors Board, gives Oregon contractors information on laws, policies and activities of the CCB and better business practices.

CCB Mission:

The CCB protects the public interest relating to improvements to real property. The Board regulates construction contractors and promotes a competitive business environment through education, contractor licensing, dispute resolution and law enforcement.

Board Members:

The agencies will gather and share information about persons who pay workers in cash and who do not comply with laws relating to taxation or employment. The agencies will develop methods to investigate and to conduct joint audits.

Lead-Based Paint Renovation

Legislation: House Bill 2134

Currently, the Health Division certifies and CCB licenses persons that perform lead-based paint (LBP) activities. Federal law requires that, beginning April 2010, contractors that perform LBP renovation in target housing or child-occupied facilities must also be licensed. "Renovation" includes: (1) modifying painted doors; (2) performing window repair; (3) preparing surfaces (sanding or scraping); (4) removing building components (windows or plumbing); and (5) weatherizing (cutting holes in painted surfaces to blow in insulation). "Renovation" does not include "minor repairs and maintenance." Minor repairs and maintenance involves work that does not disrupt more than 6 square feet of interior painted surface or 20

Developing or Building Apartments or Condos

A contractor that develops or builds apartment or condominium buildings may need a residential endorsement. In the past, apartment and condominium buildings were "commercial buildings," unless they contained four or fewer units. Now, an apartment or condominium building with no more than four stories is a "residential structure." This is so even if the building will be used for other purposes, like a "mixed use" building. Contractors that develop or construct these buildings need residential endorsements.

If you are already licensed as a commercial contractor it is fairly easy to obtain a residential endorsement. Contractors only need one responsible managing individual (RMI). Developers do not need an RMI. The insurance policy needs to cover the higher limits, usually commercial. The contractor will have to get a second bond for the residential endorsement.

After securing the residential bond, the contractor can file a change request and pay $20. CCB's Request to Change License Endorsement is available at http://ccbed.ccb.state.or.us/WebPDF/CCB/Publications/Change_Endorsement.pdf.

Some construction businesses will choose to hold both endorsements.

A commercial contractor wanting to be dually endorsed needs to complete all relevant sections. See instructions. If you need help, call CCB at 503-378-4621.

Civil Penalties Issued January 01, 2009 - March 31, 2009

The Oregon Construction Contractors Board (CCB) recently announced final orders assessing civil penalties issued to Oregon contractors for violation of the Construction Contractors Law (ORS 701). Oregon law requires all construction contractors to be licensed with the CCB before they advertise, bid on, or perform construction, remodeling, or repair work.

The CCB issued 457 penalties between January 1, 2009 and March 31, 2009. Contractors receiving penalties include the following: (See Violations Key at the end of the list for violation and description).

square feet of exterior painted surface. The new law extends the certification and licensing requirements to contractors that do LBP renovation.

Locksmiths

Legislation: House Bill 3127

Under the new law, CCB will certify individuals who advertise or work as a locksmith. The individual must pass a test demonstrating competency. A business that offers locksmith services must employ certified locksmiths. The business must also be licensed as a contractor. CCB will adopt rules establishing minimum standards of practice and professional conduct.

Small Scale Local Energy Project Contractors

Legislation: House Bill 2626, Sections 13, 45, 48, 50, 51, 52
The Department of Energy (DOE) will administer a loan program for owners to obtain to contract for sustainable energy projects, including weatherization. CCB will certify the contractors qualified to work on the projects. DOE will adopt standards for certification. The standards include a requirement that contractors pay 180% of the minimum wage or, if applicable, the prevailing wage. There are exemptions if no certified contractor is available.

Tips to Help Contractors Stay Informed

Sign Up for the CCB Newsletter

The newsletter is one of the best links for contractors to know what is going on with laws and regulations. Once a contractor signs up, the newsletter will be automatically emailed to them as soon as it is released. (See page one for the switch to electronic newsletter)

Visit the CCB Website

Contractors can find lots of valuable information on the website. All the required notices are available to download, a sample contract, slideshows helping contractors to understand new regulatory requirements as well as information on having a successful business.

Use e-Watch! A tool of the CCB's My License e-Watch is a tool contractors can use to monitor the license status of subcontractors (or their own) and be alerted by email if there is change, such as cancelled insurance or bond. Register for CCB's My License.
