GENERAL CONTRACTOR LICENSING INFORMATION

In Oregon, performing construction work for compensation requires a license with the Oregon Construction Contractors Board (CCB). Before applying for a license, applicants must complete at least 16 hours of training on construction business practices and law and pass a state test.

The individual taking the training and passing the test is the Responsible Managing Individual (RMI). Every licensee must have an RMI.

STUDENT EDUCATION & TEST REQUIREMENT

Pre-licensure training consists of a minimum of 16 clock hours of training given by an approved training provider. The test is based on the NASCLA Contractors Guide (Oregon version). Students must score 70 percent or higher to pass.

The test is a randomly generated 80-item multiple choice test. Students schedule and pay for the test with the test administrator after they complete the training.

The student must become licensed within 24 months of passing the test. Students that do not become licensed within that time period must complete the training and pass the test again to become licensed.

BECOMING A TRAINING PROVIDER

Community colleges, private businesses/schools and trade associations interested in offering the CCB pre-licensure training must apply and become approved as a provider. The process involves:

1. Training provider approval, and
2. Training material approval. This must compliment the learning from the manual.

Providers can purchase a manual through NASCLA at www.nascla.org/catalog/nascla-stone/bookstore/43.

Training materials

All training materials (except the required manual) used to instruct students must be included with the application.

Mail the completed application packet to:

Education Section
Construction Contractors Board
PO Box 14140 Salem OR 97309-5052:

If approved, the agency will send an agreement for you to sign and return. The CCB will sign the agreement and one copy will be returned to you. You must have a signed agreement before holding the training.

TRAINING ADMINISTRATION INFORMATION

1. Approved providers set their own prices and fees, schedule and market their courses, answer telephone inquiries, register students, pay instructors for instructional time and office hours, and provide classrooms, supplies and equipment needed to offer the training.
2. Approved providers may not use class time to solicit business such as insurance, business services, etc.
3. Approved providers must develop and provide to students their policies on refunds, length of support for questions (this has a required minimum of 90 days) and the length of time to complete self study courses.
4. Providers should be familiar with the laws governing pre-licensure education, found in OAR 812 Division 6.
5. The CCB will offer the names, telephone numbers and email and/or website addresses of all approved providers on the CCB website.
6. The CCB may publicize the pass/fail rates of providers after a provider has offered training for three months.
7. Approved providers may offer CCB training as long as they meet the requirements of the program. The CCB may terminate a provider for violating one or more of the standards in OAR 812 Division 6 or any of the requirements in the written agreement.
8. The test provider offers a Candidate Information Booklet (CIB) that helps students register and prepare for the test and know what to expect at the test site. These should be made available to students in paper or online.
9. Approved providers or their instructors may not be an RMI of an active license.
10. Approved providers must keep student records for six years.
11. Approved providers must enter students into the test administrator's database within two business days of the student completing the training.
12. Approved providers acquiring or attempting to acquire agency test questions will be terminated.

TRAINING MATERIALS

1. Providers must revise their training material when a new manual is released.
2. All instructional delivery formats are allowed (CD, DVD, self study, classroom, etc.).
3. Training must consist of a minimum of 16 hours. For live classes: Breaks, lunch, registration time, etc. are not to be included. Keep a daily class roster or other attendance proof. For self study training: You must develop a study log or other method that certifies the amount of time a student has spent studying. You may be required to provide proof.
4. Approved providers should develop training material based on the current manual. When making significant changes or updates, revised materials must be provided to the agency at least two weeks prior to using, unless otherwise requested by the agency.
5. The agency does not review training materials for similarities from other providers. Providers, if concerned, should copyright their materials.
6. The CCB will review materials for approval. Proofing, editing and complete accuracy are not the agency responsibility. Significant errors will stop the review and the materials will not be approved.
7. Students must not be required to pass quizzes or tests in to continue or complete the training.

The information contained in this application is not a complete summary of the requirements in the provider agreement.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS FOR APPROVED PROVIDERS

Please review the following checklist of the major requirements. These requirements will help you determine that you will be able to comply with the major requirements for offering the training. Additional requirements are detailed in the administrative rules (OAR 812 Division 6) and in the provider agreement.

- 1. Approved providers and their trainers will use the current CCB-approved course manual to prepare for and teach the 16 hours of training. The manual covers construction business practices and laws.
- 2. Approved providers will make sure that each student has a current CCB-approved manual, which the student may keep for reference after completion of the 16 hours of training and the test. Providers can buy course manuals directly from the publisher, NASCLA.
- 3. New or revised materials used to instruct students must be provided to the CCB at least 2 weeks before first instruction period. The CCB may review for accuracy and comprehension.
- 4. All trainers must have at least four years experience teaching adults or practical experience in the trainers' subject area or a combination of both. (Trainers are anyone who develops content, teaches the courses, responds to email inquiries or answers questions about course content, etc.)
- 5. Approved providers will submit all trainer changes to the CCB for approval at least 10 days before the trainer is scheduled to teach a CCB course.
- 6. Approved providers will give students information on contacting trainer(s) and hours of availability during the time students are completing the 16 hours of training. Additionally, approved providers will provide a mechanism for students to contact trainer(s) outside of the course for at least one hour a week for 90 days after enrollment in course.
- 7. An approved provider will maintain an acceptable test passing rate after three months of offering CCB classes.
- 8. Approved providers will enter accurate electronic course completion records to the test administrator's database within two business days of when the student completes the course. Access to the Internet using Internet Explorer is required.
- 9. Approved providers will allow CCB staff and board members to attend their trainer-led courses free of charge and as space allows for the purpose of reviewing the courses. Approved providers will provide a set of home study materials to CCB staff and board members free of charge for purposes of evaluation.
