Your phone keeps track of all missed calls and displays them in a few different ways. Understanding what each light or icon means can help you keep track of what you've missed.

On the IP35 desk phone, the light on the MESSAGES Key will light up anytime you've missed a call; regardless of whether or not you've received a message. If you're using the IP55 desk phone, the CALL LOG key will light up instead.

The light located on the top of the phone functions the same for both models. It lights up when you have a message waiting. (It also lights up when you receive a call)

These icons display additional information:

The Number of Messages Waiting

The Number of Calls You’ve Missed
