

Adobe General Terms 2020

To Authorized Purchasers or whom it may concern,

These 2020 Adobe General Terms apply to the purchase of Adobe Service under the Statewide Cloud Participating Addenda and should be referenced in any PO issued under those Participating Addenda for Adobe online services (e.g., Adobe Sign). The general approach to specific Adobe transactions should not change compared to how they have been handled in the past. A transaction for a particular Adobe product(s) will, in addition to these 2020 General Terms, will also be subject to the applicable Product Specific License Terms, which Authorized Purchasers should review to ensure that their intended use of an Adobe product(s) is consistent with what those terms allow. In addition, while DAS PS and DOJ have negotiated the security provisions of the Adobe 2020 General Terms with Cyber Security Services' input that is not an assurance that Adobe's promises related to its information security and privacy practices are appropriate for any and all possible use of Adobe products subject to the Adobe General Terms 2020. An agency that wishes to use Adobe products must satisfy themselves, in consultation with CSS and DOJ where appropriate, that the products are suitable for the agency's intended use.

Finally, PS and DOJ want to remind you that contracts entered into under the NASPO Cloud Participating Addenda are not generally exempt from the requirement that they be reviewed and approved for legal sufficiency. Any contract, whether entered into under the NASPO Cloud Participating Addenda or otherwise, must be reviewed and approved for legal sufficiency by the DOJ if they call for payments in excess of $150,000.
