This is the person, business, public organization, or other entity responsible for ensuring that erosion and sediment controls are in place and in working order through the life of the project.
 - This must be the legal Oregon name (for example, Acme Products, Inc.) or the legal representative of the company if it operates under an assumed business name (for example, John Smith, dba Acme Products). This will most likely be the property owner but may be a developer, general contractor, etc.
 - If the applicant is not the individual property owner then the name must be a legal, active name registered with the Oregon Department of Commerce, Corporation Division in Salem at 503-378-4752 or http://egov.sos.state.or.us/br/pkg_web_name_srch_inq.login, unless otherwise exempted by their rules. If the name of the applicant is not registered with the Corporation Division and the applicant is a partnership or doing business as a corporate entity, attach legal documents that verify the entity’s existence with the application. The applicant may not use an assumed business name.
 - Permit coverage may be transferred from one party to another. For example, a developer may apply for a permit and then transfer the permit to a contractor. Transfer forms are available from DEQ or at <http://www.oregon.gov/deq/wq/wqpermits/Pages/Stormwater.aspx>
2. Provide the name of the subdivision, business park, industrial park, etc. Also, provide the latitude and longitude for the approximate center of the site (DEQ Location Tool at <http://deqgisweb.deq.state.or.us/lid/lid.html>) and the acreage involved in the project.
3. Provide the location of the site with respect to crossroads in the area, and, if available, a street address.
