

Your new needs assessment

The way your needs are assessed and who does that work has changed.

In 2018, a new assessment tool will be used. It is called the Oregon Needs Assessment, or ONA. A new person may also be doing your assessment. They are specially trained on this new tool.

The assessor

The assessor will make sure everyone is getting assessed the same way. The assessor is also trained to be objective when doing assessments. They are one of the people who will talk with you about your needs.

The case manager

Your case manager will still talk with you about your life, your goals, your challenges, and the role you would like DD services to play in supporting you. Here is an example of the differences between your case manager and your assessor:

Case manager:	Assessor:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Helps you plan and problem solve • Helps you identify your goals and what services and supports you might need to reach them • Answers questions about your services • Identifies resources • Follows up to make sure your plan is working for you 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Conducts your ONA

Why an assessment is needed

The federal government requires everyone be treated equally when accessing services, so a uniform assessment is needed. The assessment helps to document the kinds of things you might want help with in your daily life. But you will take the lead in deciding how you want to receive services to help you achieve your goals.

How to get a copy of the results

You may ask for a copy of the results from your case manager or assessor. The results are not available right away. If you ask for a copy, they will be sent to you when they are ready.

What to do if you have questions or you think the ONA results don't accurately reflect your needs

- Please let your case manager or assessor know.
- You have the right to file a complaint if you disagree or have concerns. Your case manager or assessor can show you how. You can also follow the steps at: <http://www.oregon.gov/DHS/SENIORS-DISABILITIES/DD/Pages/File-a-Complaint.aspx>

What can you expect next?

The ONA will not change the amount of service you can access right now. At some point in 2019, the ONA may change the number of hours of service you receive if you live at home, or the amount of funding a provider can get to support you in a foster home or a group home.

Your case manager will help you make your plan, or update your plan along the way.

The following website will have additional updates and information if you are interested in reading about the changes that are taking place with assessments: <http://www.oregon.gov/DHS/SENIORS-DISABILITIES/DD/Pages/compass-project.aspx>
