

ODHS COVID-19 Recovery Units

Overview

The Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS) maintains a network of dedicated surge capacity facilities, which serve as COVID-19 recovery units, at long-term care facilities statewide. These dedicated units give the state more flexibility in responding to COVID-19 outbreaks in long-term care facilities and can help ease demand for hospital beds statewide.

Facilities under contract:

- Bend Transitional Care, Bend, for 16 skilled nursing beds;
- Emerson House, Portland, for 24 memory care beds;
- Hearthstone Nursing & Rehabilitation Center, Medford, for 39 skilled nursing beds;
- Pacific Health & Rehabilitation in Tigard for 70 skilled nursing beds;
- Rose Haven Nursing Center, Roseburg, for 20 skilled nursing beds;
- The Pearl at Kruse Way, Lake Oswego, for 45 skilled nursing beds; and
- The Springs at Willowcreek, Salem, for 16 memory care beds.

Other contracts are in process of being completed in Portland and Madras.

Primary uses:

- To provide care and services to residents of long-term care facilities that are in crisis due to staffing shortages or an inability to effectively cohort COVID-19 positive residents. In the event of an outbreak, facilities are expected to follow their staffing and infection control plans prior to utilizing surge capacity facilities.
- To provide care for COVID-19 positive Oregonians with long-term care needs who have been discharged from the hospital and do not have other available resources to receive care.
- To serve as care setting for COVID-19 positive Oregonians who do not require hospitalization and are unable to have their care needs met in their current home.
