Message:

The Department has developed training that is specific to the laws for mandatory abuse reporting for adults with developmental disabilities. The training is designed for individuals who provide care or services to support adults with developmental disabilities in Department certified or endorsed settings.

The free online training is available on the iLearn.oregon.gov website under the course title Mandatory Reporting: People with Developmental Disabilities. A flyer that details the course learning objectives is attached to this memorandum.

All non-State employees are welcome to take the training but need to create an account to access the course. To create an account, follow this link: How To Create A New Account For Non-State Employees

Intended Audience

DHS/OHA employees and partners providing care to people with developmental disabilities as mandatory reporters

Course Synopsis

This course will help you recognize suspected abuse committed against adults with developmental disabilities. The course specifically covers reporting requirements, who is protected, who can be held responsible, abuse definitions, and what to expect during screening and investigations. The content covered meets training requirements for DHS/OHA employees and partners who provide care to people with developmental disabilities as mandatory reporters.

This training was produced for the Office of Developmental Disabilities Services by the Office of Adult Abuse Prevention and Investigations, a shared service of the Oregon Department of Human Services and the Oregon Health Authority.

Course is available
24/7 through iLearnOregon

Learning Objectives

By completing this training, individuals working with people with developmental disabilities will be able to:

1. Understand mandatory reporters' responsibilities under Oregon Law.
2. Learn who is protected by the statues and rules.
3. Know how to make a report of suspected abuse.
4. Develop an increased understanding of abuse types.
5. Understand the process of screening and investigation during abuse allegations.
