

Please join us for a Home and Community- Based Services (HCBS) web-based training

The Individually-Based Limitation (IBL) process when restraints are necessary for community living

Training will focus on Federal Medicaid requirements when hands-on physical intervention or equipment is used to restrict freedom of movement of individuals in order to keep them or community members safe. The training will discuss: What is a restraint? What restraints are allowed? What process and documentation are required when restraints are indicated?
