SERVICES AVAILABLE ACROSS OREGON

CHILD / ELDER ABUSE

Adult Protective Services: 1-855-503-7233 (TTY)

People with developmental disabilities may need assistance when they have been abused or are at risk of abuse or neglect. Protective services are those steps taken to prevent abuse or neglect and to keep people safe. Adult protective services are provided for all adults with developmental disabilities who receive services in the community. Individuals who are able to make their own decisions may refuse to accept offered services. Adult protective services are defined as:

- Arranging for the immediate protection of the adult;
- Contacting the adult to assess his or her ability to protect his or her own interest and give informed consent;
- Determining the ability of the adult to understand the nature of the protective service and his or her willingness to accept services;
- Coordinating evaluations to determine or verify the adult's physical and mental status, if necessary.
- Assisting in or arranging appropriate services and alternative living arrangements;
- Assisting in or arranging the medical, legal or other necessary services to prevent further abuse; and
- Providing advocacy to assure the adult's rights and entitlements are protected.

National Indian Child Welfare Association (NICWA):

5100 S.W. Macadam Avenue, Suite 300, Portland; 503-222-4044

The National Indian Child Welfare Association (NICWA) is a national voice for American Indian children and families. We are the most comprehensive source of information on American Indian child welfare and the only national American Indian organization focused specifically on the tribal capacity to prevent child abuse and neglect. Guardian Care Center:

Oregon Child Advocacy Centers

Oregon has 24 Children's Advocacy Centers (CACs). These centers are part of a network that is convened by Oregon Child Abuse Solutions (OCAS)

Oregon is but one of many states to utilize centers in helping children suspected to be victims of abuse and/or domestic violence.

As each county in our state is required to have a Multi-disciplinary Team to review child abuse cases, each county is also required to have services in place that ensure that every child reasonably suspected to be abused has access to therapeutic medical assessments (ORS 418.780 – 418.796 Statutes).

FINANCIAL

Crime Victims Compensation Program: 503-378-5348

If you are a victim of crime, you have legal rights guaranteed by both the Oregon Constitution and Oregon Revised Statutes. Your right to justice includes the right to:

- A meaningful role in the criminal or juvenile justice process
- Be treated with dignity and respect
- Fair and impartial treatment
- Reasonable protection from the offender

Crime Victims' Rights apply to both the adult criminal justice system and the juvenile justice system. Many of these rights are automatic but some must be requested through your local district attorney's office or juvenile department.

Dunn House Shelter provides a safe refuge and support services for women and children to help them escape from domestic violence. Women with or without children who are in fear from their intimate partner or family member may need to stay in a safe place while figuring out a longer-term plan for safety or have time to rest and learn about options. Dunn House Shelter is a large home where several families reside. Food, clothing, and personal care items are provided, and the services are free and confidential. Children at Dunn House Shelter have a safe place to play, to spend time with their mothers and to be involved in age-appropriate activities. Advocates work with families to provide information, referrals to community services, and needed support. For additional information, visit their website:
