NEW DEAL MINING CO. (Gold)

Sparta District

Oregon corporation; capitalization, $50,000. L. E. Boyer, Halfway, Oregon, Pres.; H. E. Hall, Richland, Oregon, Secy.-Treas.

Location: Gold Ridge Mining Claims, the Speckelmeier property and some deeded land about $\frac{1}{2}$ mile northeast of Sparta, Oregon. This property consists of several patented claims and several acres of deeded land. About 200 acres in all.

"Within sight of the Sparta Post Office, the New Deal Mining Co., L. E. Boyer, Manager, was developing a vein not hitherto developed except by shallow surface workings.

"A single compartment winze had been sunk 140 feet on the dip of the vein and drifts were driven 60 feet each way on the 100-foot level.

"The ore consists of quartz lenses and stringers, with gouge and granite breccia, between granite walls about 4 feet apart. The quartz varies from a few inches to four feet wide; it has been continuous in varying widths and values for the depth of the shaft. Assays were said to have averaged $20 a ton in gold. The vein strikes N. 30 degrees W. and dips 40 degrees E.

"Northwest of the shaft the vein is broken up by cross-fracturing. About 200 feet southeast is an old prospect shaft with good ore on the dump. Several hundred feet farther southeast, on the strike of the vein, are the strong quartz outcrops of 'Gold Ridge'. These outcrops are nearly continuous for several hundred feet. Between 1889 and 1892 a recorded production of $124,000 was obtained from surface workings on Gold Ridge.

"The mine was equipped with a small gasoline-driven hoist, compressor, mining equipment, and a boarding house. A bunkhouse was in course of construction.

"The winze was said to have been sunk at an over-all cost of $10 a foot. No appreciable water had yet been encountered."

Press reports state that the mine had been sold to the Hi-Grade Mining Co. of Cornucopia, Oregon. October 12, 1938.
