Norm:

Have been busy working on my articles etc. but finally finished this. Enclosed are 2 drill logs - (I copied the wrong one first) for the South Fork property. Your hole #15 should be quite interesting geology wise.

The enclosed map is not so good. I have a later version which is somewhat different. The basic picture is there though. Diacites to the NW. (bottom of section) ~~Have~~ then Sericite schist which hosts massive sulfide to the South east.

I should have a more detailed & interpretive map in the not to distant future.

Sincerely

Bob. Derby
