

Mining and milling equipment is being installed by the Tree Mining Company, Inc., in the Upper Applegate section near Medford, Oregon. R. E. Millard of Oregon City is president of the concern, which was incorporated last month and is self-owned, the employes being owners of the company. A 125-ton ball mill is being brought from Grants Pass, a 400-foot tramway has been built from mine to millsite, a 100-horsepower semi-Diesel engine will be installed, and a five-drill compressor will replace the smaller one now in use underground. An assayer's office will be set up and W. G. Wright of Medford is assayer. Don Marvin of Medford is mill superintendent. The 50-ton tunnel will be extended 100 feet and other development work is planned. Living quarters have been built and the company expects to be mining and milling in the near future.
