

What if I conduct business both inside and outside the district?

You may use an apportionment formula that is calculated by completing Schedule OR-TSE-AP and including it with your transit self-employment tax return.

Am I required to make estimated payments?

No. File and pay your taxes by the due date of the return to avoid any penalty and interest.

When is the return due?

Your transit self-employment tax return is generally due the same day as your federal and Oregon individual income tax returns. For most taxpayers, this is April 15. Fiscal year returns are due on the 15th day of the fourth month after the end of the fiscal year. When the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, the due date is the next business day.

Can I get an extension to file my return?

An extension to file your federal or Oregon individual income tax return will also extend your time to file your transit self-employment tax return. You will need to check the extension box on the transit return and keep the extension form with your records. Don't include the extension with your return.

However, more time to file doesn't mean more time to pay. Include a check and payment voucher, Form OR-TM-V or OR-LTD-V, and mail by the original due date of the return. Don't staple the check to the payment voucher.

Can I file my return electronically?

Yes. For more information about e-filing, paying online, and account status, visit www.oregon.gov/dor.

A guide to TriMet and Lane Transit self-employment taxes

Oregon Transit Self-employment Taxes

Should I file?

Transit district taxes

We collect self-employment taxes owed to TriMet Transportation District (TriMet) and Lane Transit District (LTD). This tax is applied to the self-employment earnings of taxpayers doing business or providing services to a location within the transit districts.

Who must file and pay?

Individuals. If you have self-employment earnings from business or service activities delivered to the TriMet or LTD districts, you may owe this tax. This includes independent contractors and subcontractors, truck drivers, consultants, writers, internet sales, farmers, doctors, dentists, and real estate salespeople. This list isn't all-inclusive.

Use this list to determine if you have self-employment earnings in the Eugene-Springfield urban and rural areas served by LTD. Some ZIP codes may not coincide with the district boundaries. For more information on LTD boundaries, call (541) 682-6100 or visit www.ltd.org/business-center.

Partnerships. Individual members of a partnership are subject to the tax. The partnership may file one transit self-employment tax return and pay the tax for its individual members.

Exemptions. The following aren't subject to this tax.

- Ministers: Applies only to income for religious services. Income for independent contract services (weddings, funerals, etc.) is subject to this tax.
- Insurance agents: Applies only to insurance related income. Non-insurance related activities (consulting, investment advice, etc.) are subject to this tax.
- C and S corporation distributions: C and S corporations may owe transit payroll tax. For more information, call (503) 945-8091.

How do I determine self-employment income?

Individuals. Fill in your net self-employed earnings from federal Schedule SE, section A, line 3, or section B, line 3.

If you list more than one business within the same transit district on federal Schedule SE, only include those businesses doing business or providing services in the same district. You may use a business with a net loss to offset a business with net earnings within the same transit district.

Partnerships. Fill in the net earnings from federal Partnership Form 1065. Don't include Oregon modifications.
