3. Proposed Rule Changes for OAR 259-008-0075 - Sheriff Eligibility Determination
   Presented by Jennifer Howald

   ORS 206.015 provides the eligibility criteria for a person to be a candidate for election or appointment to the office of sheriff and directs the Department, in consultation with the Board, to establish a procedure for determining whether an individual is eligible to be a candidate for election to the office of sheriff. This proposed language refines this language by eliminating duplicative statutory and rule language provided as a reference and focusing on rules that provide interpretations of the authorizing statute which are critical to the Department’s processes for determining whether an individual is eligible to be a candidate for election to the office of sheriff.

   - John Teague moved to recommend the Board adopt the changes as proposed and that the Board approve filing the changes to OAR 259-008-0075 as a permanent rule change with the Secretary of State if no comments are received. Travis Hampton seconded the motion. The motion passed unanimously.

   - By consensus the committee found no fiscal impact to small businesses

Consensus reached that Petersen’s conduct impacts his ability to be employed as a public safety professional because it violates the Code of Ethics, sworn and affirmed by him, to safeguard lives and property; to protect all persons against deception, the weak against oppression or intimidation and the peaceful against violence or disorder. Petersen’s conduct is particularly egregious because he engaged in dishonesty when questioned about his conduct. Petersen’s integrity has been compromised by his conduct and his demonstrated dishonesty renders him ineffective to serve as a public safety officer.

Department Update

Eriks thanked outgoing Police Policy Committee Chair Jeff Herring for his many years of dedicated service and leadership. Eriks also thanked the members of the Police Policy Committee for their continued hard work and diligence as they review certifications matters presented by staff.

DPSST continues to watch Academy enrollments on an ongoing basis to ensure enough classes are being offered to meet hiring needs. Corrections and Parole and Probation basic classes appear to be doing well. Basic Police is where the largest influx of new officers is being experienced. DPSST has planned to begin a 16-week Basic Police class on a monthly basis if needed to meet demands. DPSST is watching the enrollments for the fall and may postpone either the October or November classes unless enrollments increase. This postponed class would be placed later into the calendar for delivery. Eriks shared that the agency may need to return to the Legislative Ways & Means Committee at the beginning of the 2019 session to request funds for additional basic classes. This is still a discussion with many months ahead of us before a decision needs to be made.

DPSST has submitted its 2019-2021 DPSST Agency Request Budget (ARB), and various policy option packages that were approved by BPSST, to the DAS Chief Financial Officer (CFO) on August 3, 2018. DPSST is an early submittal agency so we will await questions and eventually a date for a budget workshop with members of CFO and the Governor’s Office.
DPSST is tracking legislation proposed for the 2019 session. DPSST has not submitted any legislative concepts for the next session. DPSST is actively involved in discussions taking place that would address campus public safety officers and private security officers. DPSST is communicating with the Oregon Department of Corrections (DOC) which is interested in returning its basic corrections officer training course to the academy. Eriks shared that DPSST would keep the current city-county corrections course as is and offer the same basic course for DOC officers with a focus and emphasis on DOC related issues and operational practices. DPSST estimates that it would need to offer two basic DOC classes for every City-County class to meet their hiring needs. DPSST has also met with a Representative who is interested in trauma informed care for victims of domestic violence and increased training for law enforcement officers on this important topic around the state.

DPSST continues to move forward with the addition of 60 parking spaces to the Oregon Public Safety Academy. Staff is working through the permitting process with the City of Salem. Discussions taking place that we may rock the area this summer, allow the area to settle, and pave it next summer. We will keep you posted.

DPSST has provided a grant to the Oregon State Sheriff’s Office which is working with the Polk County Sheriff’s Office and Grand Ronde Tribal Police Department to host a class specifically developed for law enforcement officers on the Public Law (PL) 280. The class will be held in Grand Ronde free of charge.

DPSST Crisis Intervention Training Center for Excellence (CITCOE) continues to provide technical assistance to organization looking to create and implement crisis intervention programs around the state. CITCOE also continues to support basic and advanced training classes.

The Police Curriculum Review Committee continues its task to review and recommend updates to the 16-week Basic Police Course. The progress of the group is steady with anticipated changes being ready for the next meeting of the Police Policy Committee. The changes approved and implemented to the first four-weeks of the course are being well received. DPSST is working with the Phase 2 and Phase 3 review committees at the same time to remain on schedule. Dr. Steve James from Washington State University continues to assist our staff and the work groups as DPSST pursues being the first basic police course in the nation to be almost completely evidence based. DPSST staff will continue to provide updates to the Committee as it works on the process and prepares changes for review and consideration.

During the months of July and August, DPSST hosted three different youth academies for young men and women interested in potential careers in law enforcement. The first was the City of Salem Police Cadet Academy that included cadets from various law enforcement agencies around the Willamette Valley. The second, the FBI Youth Academy which was a residential academy held at DPSST. This is the first residential academy the FBI has held in the United States. The third, was the Oregon State Police/American Legion Law Enforcement Youth Academy. All three went very well and DPSST was pleased to assist.

During the month of June, DPSST hosted the American College of Occupational and Environmental Medicine’s (ACOEM) Public Safety Medicine Section two-day class for physicians and medical providers that work with fire service and law enforcement agencies. This two-day workshop offered state-of-the-art training in applying the guidelines and standards currently used for conducting post-offer, return-to-work, disability, or annual examinations of law enforcement officers (LEOs) and fire fighters. More than three dozen attended the class. Attendees included 12 physicians who provide medical evaluations (pre and post hire) for public safety agencies in Oregon and SW Washington. We also had physicians join us who work for the United States Secret Service (Washington D.C.), United States Department of Homeland Security (Washington, D.C.), NIOSH, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (Headquarters – Ottawa, Ontario, Canada). The others in the class were risk managers, human resources managers and public safety agency heads. This is only the third time this class has been offered, and the first time it has been offered on the west coast. Special thanks to the Oregon State Police, City of Salem Police, and Marion County Sheriff’s Office who provided personnel from specialized teams to share their work and equipment with the physicians.

DPSST was asked to provide wildland firefighter training to 200 members of the Oregon National Guard last month. The Citizen-Soldiers and Citizen-Airmen were trained at the Academy and live-fire, hands-on, training was included as part of the weeklong session. The area burned for the training is visible on campus and will grow back to normal. DPSST is on stand-by to offer additional classes if more members of the Oregon National Guard are activated to support the state wildfire suppression mission.

DPSST Professional Standards and Training Divisions continue to conduct regional outreach sessions through which it gathers information on process improvements and shares update on DPSST processes and services. More sessions will be scheduled in the Fall around the state.

Meeting adjourned at approximately 12:40 pm.
