An update was given by Amira Streeter, Dan Cox, and Jeff Soulages to the Coastal Caucus at a meeting where questions were answered and information was provided to the committee. It was a first good step, on a very complicated subject, to opening dialogue and sharing information with the Coastal Caucus. There is notable historic distrust over this issue which has built up over the years.

It was suggested that the committee work towards bringing the caucus up to speed sooner than later.

Discussed was the desire to eliminate old standards and adopt ASCE-7 lines and making it a part of the building code so everyone knows what to do. Differences between the T-Shirt sizing and ASCE-7 is that Line 379 (current building code) is closer to the "medium" size where ASCE-7 is closer to the "large" size. T-Shirt sizing has been helpful as an educational and evacuation tool.

Next step: OSSPAC will be sending a letter with the committee's recommendation to Mike Harryman for distribution.
