EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Oregon Legislature passed HB 3456¹ in 2023 (HB 3456 was amended by HB 4164² in 2024, and by HB 3731 in 2025³). The law was codified as ORS 350.335-346⁴ and Oregon Administrative Rules 715-030-0001 to 715-030-0040⁵. It established requirements for collecting and sharing information related to sexual misconduct at higher education institutions, and ensuring that students affected by sexual misconduct have access to confidential advocacy, that the impact of those experiences is lessened by institution policies and practices, and that institutions establish memorandums of understanding with local domestic and sexual violence organizations.

The statute assigns responsibility to the Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC) to establish rules to implement it. HECC staff provide technical assistance to colleges and universities and support the Sexual Misconduct Survey Council. HECC is also required by ORS 350.346 to annually submit a report to the interim committees of the legislative assembly related to higher education that identifies each instance during the previous academic year in which an institution of higher education has either violated or failed to carry out a provision of ORS 350.335-346.

The report focuses on requirements of the law for institutional action in the following areas:

- Administer the Oregon Sexual Misconduct Climate Survey at least every two years and submit a summary report to HECC;
- Make confidential advocate services available to students who experience sexual misconduct;
- Establish a memorandum of understanding with a local sexual violence/domestic advocacy organization for resources and consultation;
- Limit disciplinary actions against sexual misconduct reporting parties and witnesses;
- Conduct trauma-informed primary prevention and awareness training for all students & employees;
- Make waivers for certain activities available to students who have experienced sexual misconduct; and
- Annually report information about sexual misconduct reports and outcomes from the previous academic year.

Although most institutions have demonstrated substantial progress toward meeting the requirements of the law during the 2025-26 academic year, others have encountered challenges. Schools that do not accept federal financial aid may not have had established policies and resources that could be augmented to fulfill the requirements, and have had to initiate them. Funding challenges persist for both institutions of higher education and local victim advocacy organizations in Oregon, and no additional funding was appropriated to assist them in providing the resources and services required by the statute. Some institutions are located in counties where victim advocacy organizations have experienced operational disruptions and were not able to respond to institutional requests to establish relationships. Even with these difficulties, Oregon's colleges and universities have demonstrated commitment to providing the support needed by students who experience sexual misconduct so that they can achieve their academic potential.

HOW INSTITUTIONAL INFORMATION WAS OBTAINED

All information in this report was voluntarily submitted by institutions. Requests for information were emailed in May, 2026. Reminders were sent in June and July. The information requested was based on the statutory requirements and was collected using an online form provided by HECC. Three institutions did not submit any information.

INFORMATION PER STATUTE SECTION

The following sections discuss institutional implementation by the section of the law.

SEXUAL MISCONDUCT SURVEY (ORS 350.338)

The 2025 Oregon Campus Sexual Misconduct Survey and implementation guidelines were made available to institutions in September 2025. Institutions must administer the survey by September 2027. The survey and guidelines will be updated (per statute) by the Sexual Misconduct Survey Council every two years, and institutions will be supplied with the most current version.

To ensure that student privacy is protected to the highest degree possible and that all schools are administering the survey in the same way, HECC mounted the survey on Qualtrics and SurveyMonkey platforms. Both of these platforms collect survey results without identifying information such as IP addresses. On request, HECC transfers a copy of the survey to the institution in its preferred format.

A school may request changes to the base survey questions by submitting them for review to the Sexual Misconduct Survey Council. The council may approve or deny the request, or make suggestions for modifications.

A summary report of survey results must be posted on the institution's website and shared with HECC within 120 days after the survey is closed. HECC provides the summary report format. When received, HECC posts summary reports in an online repository (<https://www.oregon.gov/highered/about/Pages/sexual-misconduct-survey.aspx>).

During the 2025-26 academic year, two institutions administered the survey and submitted summary reports: National University of Naturopathic Medicine and Reed College. Both summary reports are available on the HECC repository webpage (<https://www.oregon.gov/highered/about/Pages/sexual-misconduct-survey.aspx>).

INFORMATION AVAILABLE ON INSTITUTION WEBSITE (ORS 350.338)

In addition to sexual misconduct survey summary reports, institutions are required to post on their website any annual security reports required by federal law. For most institutions, this is the Annual Security (Clery) Report. Schools that do not accept federal financial aid are not required to complete Annual Security Reports. All schools required to publish an Annual Security Report did so.

CONFIDENTIAL ADVOCATE SERVICES (ORS 350.340)

Institutions are required to employ at least one certified confidential advocate if they have an institution-based qualified victim services program (QVSP) or more than 1,000 enrolled students who reside on campus. Any institution may employ an advocate. The institution's advocate must have training and job duties specified by statute.

If an institution is not required to employ an advocate, they must partner with a local victim advocacy organization to make the services of a certified confidential advocate available to their students, and ensure that the organization's advocate has on-campus office hours and that the services are provided without charge to enrolled students. Unfortunately, most victim advocacy organizations do not have the staffing capacity to provide an advocate that can keep on-campus office hours. HECC granted waivers from the on-campus advocate requirement to institutions that partnered with organizations to ensure advocacy services could be made available virtually and/or off-campus.

Twenty-two institutions (one more than last year) have developed qualified victim service programs and have employees that are certified confidential advocates; of these, 12 also partner with a local victim advocacy organization to make their services available to students. An additional 22 institutions work with a local organization to ensure that advocacy services are available to students.

The Higher Education Coordinating Commission may waive the requirements of this section if the commission determines that, despite reasonable efforts, the institution was unable to arrange for advocacy services. Waivers were granted to 9 institutions (one fewer than last year) for the 2025-26 academic year.

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING WITH LOCAL ORGANIZATION (ORS 350.341)

Institutions are required to enter into and maintain a memorandum of understanding (MOU) with a community-based domestic and sexual violence advocacy organization that provides services in the same county as the institution. Under the MOU, the organization will:

- Review the institution’s sexual misconduct training materials for students and employees and provide feedback on the content to the institution;
- Provide off-campus free and confidential sexual misconduct crisis services, including but not limited to access to a sexual assault nurse examiner, if available, and to domestic violence crisis services in response to sexual misconduct;
- Ensure that a student or employee of the institution can access free and confidential counseling and advocacy services on campus or off campus, and virtually if the student or employee prefers; and
- Ensure cooperation and training between the institution and the community-based domestic and sexual violence advocacy organization to ensure an understanding of the roles that the institution or organization should play in responding to reports and disclosures of sexual misconduct against students and employees.

The MOU may contain a fee structure for the provision of confidential victim services. In this section, “confidential victim services” means case consultation and training fees for certified advocates, consultation fees for the development and implementation of student education and prevention programs, the development of staff training and prevention curriculum, and confidential on-campus office space for a representative from a community-based domestic and sexual violence advocacy organization to meet with students or employees of the institution of higher education. Neither the organization nor the institution may charge any fees to students and employees that access confidential victim services.

As provided for in Oregon Administrative Rule 715-030-0020⁶, institutions submit a copy of the MOU to HECC for review. For the 2025-26 academic year, twenty-nine institutions were able to establish MOUs that met the requirements of ORS 350.341. HECC may waive the requirements of this section if the Commission determines that, despite reasonable efforts, an institution was not able to establish an MOU with an advocacy organization. Waivers were granted to 19 institutions (10 fewer than the previous year) for the 2025-26 academic year. (Several of these institutions have already established MOUs for the 2026-27 academic year.)

LIMIT DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS AGAINST REPORTING PARTIES (ORS 350.342)

Institutions are required to prohibit disciplinary proceedings or sanctions against complainants and witnesses when violations of school policy or code of conduct are discovered in connection with a report of sexual misconduct unless the institution determines that the report was not made in good faith or that the violation of the policy was an egregious violation (defined by the section as including but not limited to an action that places the health and safety of another individual at risk). These limits on adverse action are often referred to as “amnesty policies.”

The majority of institutions have adopted policies that meet the requirements; three have not.

PREVENTION TRAINING FOR STUDENTS AND EMPLOYEES (ORS 350.343)

Institutions are required to establish a trauma-informed, gender-inclusive, culturally responsive sexual misconduct primary prevention and awareness training to be attended annually by all employees and students.

An administrative rule (OAR 715-030-0030⁷) was adopted to clarify that institutions shall not impose any penalty or take any other adverse action against students or employees for nonattendance of the annual primary prevention training.

In developing its training, the institution must receive guidance from the following six sources:

- The Title IX coordinator of the institution;
- Local law enforcement;
- Violence prevention specialists;
- Public health specialists;
- Other individuals with experience identifying protective and risk factors related to violence; and
- The community-based domestic and sexual violence advocacy organization with which the institution entered into a memorandum of understanding under 350.341.

The trainings must be accessible to individuals with a disability, and culturally responsive, addressing unique experiences and challenges faced by students based on race, color, ethnicity, national origin, religion, economic status, disability status, immigration status, sexual orientation, gender identity, and pregnancy or parenting status.

The trainings must include the following seven topics:

- An explanation of consent as it applies to sexual activity and sexual relationships;
- The role drugs and alcohol play in an individual's ability to consent;
- Information on options relating to the reporting of an incident of sexual misconduct, the effects of each option presented and the methods to report an incident of sexual misconduct, including confidential and anonymous disclosure;

⁷ OAR 715-030-0030

- Information on the institution's procedures for resolving sexual misconduct reports and the range of sanctions or penalties the institution may impose on students and employees responsible for a violation;
- Contact information for the office charged with handling complaints and the name, contact information and role of each certified advocate employed by the institution, and information on how to reach a certified advocate confidentially;
- Strategies for bystander intervention and risk reduction; and
- Opportunities for ongoing sexual misconduct prevention and awareness training and programming.

Of the institutions that submitted information to HECC, 9 met all the requirements of the section. An additional 32 have trainings that partially meet these requirements. Seven schools added or expanded training during the 2025-26 academic year. Twelve institutions did not report conducting any primary prevention and awareness training.

WAIVERS FOR PROGRAMS OR ACTIVITIES (ORS 350.344)

Institutions must waive any requirements relating to a minimum required grade point average or disciplinary record requirements required to demonstrate academic success that are part of an institution-sponsored program or activity identified by the institution for any participant who has experienced sexual misconduct while enrolled at the institution, and who has received a waiver from a certified advocate employed by the institution or the Title IX coordinator.

The law specifies that institutions shall identify the institution-sponsored programs or activities for which waivers may be granted, and those are listed in Table 6 for each institution that responded to the request for information.

ANNUAL REPORT BY INSTITUTIONS (ORS 350.345)

Institutions are required to submit annual reports for the previous academic year by October 1. Reports must be submitted to: the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives; the interim committees of the Legislative Assembly relating to higher education; the Higher Education Coordinating Commission; and the Director of Human Services. Institution reports received by HECC are posted on the Sexual Misconduct Reporting webpage (<https://www.oregon.gov/highered/about/pages/sexual-misconduct-reporting.aspx>). Seven institutions did not submit an annual report to HECC for the 2024-25 academic year.
