Docket Item: 12.1 - 2023-24 Public University Tuition Setting Overview

Summary:

This document summarizes the requirements of the public universities during the tuition-setting process. Based on observations so far, HECC staff do not currently expect any public university will exceed the 5% increase threshold for resident, undergraduate tuition and mandatory enrollment fees that would require Commission approval. More detailed information on the increase adopted by each public university will be provided during the May Funding and Achievement Subcommittee meeting.

The appendices of this document include information on historical changes in resident, undergraduate tuition rates, an explanation of current tuition and mandatory enrollment fees, information about remission amounts and programs at each institution, and an overview of differential tuition policies at each university.

Docket Material:

As required in statute (ORS 352.103), each public university must accomplish the following as part of the annual tuition setting process:

1. Creation of a tuition advisory body, which must create a written document describing its role and consist of at least the following members:
  - Two Administrators
  - Two Faculty
  - Two Students representing Student Government
  - Two Students representing historically underserved students
2. The university must provide training on the following:
  - The budget of the university
  - The legislative appropriation process
  - Data showing the relationship between tuition and fees to state appropriations
  - The university must provide the council with:
    - A plan for managing costs
    - A plan for how tuition and fees could be decreased if the university receives additional state funding

3. The advisory body must also provide the following opportunities:
  - Provide meaningful opportunities for members of the recognized student government and other students to actively participate in the process and deliberations
  - Provide a written report to the president with recommendations, deliberations and observations about tuition and fees for the upcoming academic year including any sub-reports requested by members of the advisory body or other documentation produced or received by the advisory body
4. The university must ensure that the process is described on the University's website and include downloadable materials such as:
  - The advisory body's role and relationship to the Board
  - Any documentation, agendas, and data considered during deliberations
5. If the council feels a recommendation greater than 5% annually is necessary, the council must document its consideration of:
  - The impact of that increase on students, especially historically underserved students
  - The impact of that increase on the mission of the university
  - Alternative scenarios involving smaller increases

Staff Recommendation

For discussion only.

Appendix B – Explanation of Tuition and Mandatory Enrollment Fees

Undergraduate, resident tuition and mandatory enrollment fees during the 2022-23 academic year for one term for a student enrolled full-time.

The amounts noted do not include differential tuition or other types of tuition that may depend on the student's choice of academic program. More detailed information can be found at each university's website. Information relevant to the main campus is included for those institutions with multiple campuses.

Tuition and fees are based on residency, student classification (undergraduate, graduate, etc.) and the number of credits enrolled. Course-specific fees may also apply. The amounts noted are for the current academic year, 2022-23.

Appendix D – Information about Remission Programs

The student financial aid offerings at Oregon’s seven public universities include a variety of remission programs that mirror others offered across the country. These are often referred to as “fee waivers” or “tuition discounts” and are often tied to institution specific initiatives. Some are mandated by the state.

As a result, students do not often pay the entire tuition and fee amount (gross amount or sticker price) charged to them. Instead they pay a net amount which has been discounted by remissions. This allows the university to pursue specific enrollment goals such as recruitment of students with financial need or meritorious students, international students, athletes, and other student populations. The following tables show the remission amounts per Full Time Equivalent (FTE) by institution for the past 3 years.

FY2020

State Mandated Programs:

Voyager Tuition Assistance Program

VOYAGER fee remissions are for Oregon residents who are members of the National Guard or Reserves and were deployed in an area of military combat since September 11, 2001. This fee remission is for full-time students pursuing their initial bachelor's degree.

Resident Tuition for Veterans

This program is available for those students who are veterans of the armed forces pursuing undergraduate studies at a public institution in Oregon. They will pay tuition rates and fees no greater than the Oregon resident rate — even if they are not yet considered a permanent resident of the state.

These savings also apply to veterans' dependents using transferred benefits, as well as orphans of veterans who died on active duty. ORS 350.290 from the original House Bill 2158 and as amended by HB 4021, 2670, and 4019.

Foster Youth Tuition and Fee Waiver

The Foster Youth Tuition and Fee Waiver is open to qualified current and former foster children enrolled as undergraduate students for the purposes of pursuing an initial undergraduate degree. This program waives tuition and fees for current and former foster youth who enroll prior to reaching 25 years of age until the student receives “the equivalent of four years of undergraduate education.”

The Foster Youth Tuition and Fee Waiver originated with the passage of HB 3471 in 2011.

Tuition Equity (HB 2787)

Oregon's Tuition Equity law provides undocumented students (largely those in the DACA program, or “Dreamers”) the ability to pay resident tuition rates when they meet certain criteria.

Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE)

The Western Undergraduate Exchange program is a voluntary remissions program sponsored by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE), in which all seven of Oregon's public universities participate. It allows students from any WICHE participating state who attend an Oregon public university to pay no more than 150% of the resident tuition rate.

A Non-Exhaustive List of Institution Specific Remissions Programs:

PathwayOregon – at University of Oregon ensures that academically qualified (3.40 high school GPA), Pell-eligible students will have their tuition and fees covered through a combination of federal, state, and university funds.

Four Years Free – at Portland State University is an institutional aid program for eligible Oregon resident students. It covers tuition and mandatory fees after financial aid is applied. In order to be eligible students must be Oregon residents, have graduated high school, be Pell grant eligible, a first time PSU student, enrolled full time, and start in fall term. If a student meets these requirements they are automatically considered for Four Years Free, there is no separate application. PSU also offers a similar program for transfer students, called Transfers Finish Free.

The Pell Plus Program – at Western Oregon University covers standard tuition and mandatory fees for eligible students. To be eligible students must be first-year Oregon residents, have a cumulative 3.4 high school GPA, and be Pell eligible.

Badger to Owl Connection – at Oregon Tech is a program designed to promote college access, affordability and bachelor degree completion for more students – an accelerated full-time earned associate degree at Klamath Community College (KCC), followed by a completed bachelor degree at Oregon Tech. Students who meet the requirements earn a first term tuition remission waiver at Oregon Tech (up to 15 credits), and a last term tuition remission waiver (up to 15 credits).

Appendix E – Differential Tuition

Differential tuition is an additional tuition charge above base tuition for certain academic programs, or sometimes courses taken in certain departments. This is distinct from fees that are charged for specific courses (such as a fee for a pottery course or a lab fee). Typically, differential tuition is charged for academic programs that are higher cost in an effort to recover above-average, actual instructional costs.

In some cases, low-income students may be discouraged from certain majors due to the additional tuition, and therefore some institutions require that part of the differential fee be set aside for student financial aid, to avoid this unintended consequence. Nationally the use of differential tuition has increased to avoid across-the-board tuition increases as a result of less state funding relative to the total cost of education.

Below is a summary of the differential tuition policies at each institution for resident, undergraduate students. It is important to note that the way differential tuition is charged varies by institution. In some cases a differential is applied based on declared major, and applies to all courses a student takes. In other cases a differential is charged by course, where any student taking a certain course pays the differential, regardless of major. At some institutions they use both methods. WOU does not charge differential tuition.

Eastern Oregon University

EOU charges a business differential for all ACCT (Accounting), BA (Business Administration), MKT (Marketing), AE (Agriculture Entrepreneurship), and ECON (Economics) prefix courses. The rate is an additional $14.50 per credit on top of base tuition, which is a 7.9% increase.

Oregon Tech

Differential tuition is charged for the Engineering Technology, Medical Imaging, Respiratory Care and Klamath Falls Dental majors at OIT at a rate of 37% above base tuition. Online students are not charged a differential. In order to be approved by the board to charge differential tuition, a program must show that the quality of learning will be increased in a way that would not be possible without the extra costs. In addition, 10% of the increased differential cost is earmarked for financial aid funding that targets low-income students majoring in the program. This is intended to prevent differential tuition from discouraging students to pursue these majors.

Oregon State University

OSU charges differential tuition for Business, Engineering (general and professional), Arts, Forestry, and the Honors College. The rates vary by program, and range from 7.6%-15.5% above base tuition, with the exception of the honors college, which is $588 per term above base tuition. The intent of their differential is to make up costs for programs that are substantially more costly than others, as well as to provide services and experiences that are clearly distinct from those offered to students outside the program(s).

Portland State University

PSU charges differential tuition for the College of Engineering and Computer Science, Business, and the College of the Arts. Rates vary by program, but range from 5.7%-25.3% over base tuition.

Southern Oregon University

SOU charges differential tuition for Art, Art History, Creative Writing, Emerging Media and Digital Arts, Military Science, Music, and Theater. The rates are $10/credit above base tuition.

University of Oregon

UO charges differential tuition for its Honors College (they charge an extra fee for the first credit and all other credits at the normal rate), as well as for students in the Business School, at a rate of $20/credit over base tuition.

Differential Tuition Compared to Base Tuition

The table below shows the percent increase over base tuition for the different academic programs that are charged differential tuition. The base tuition is based on one credit hour, for a resident undergraduate.
