

Federal Funding Makes a Local Difference in Oregon

Our Federal Funding

The Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) is legislation that supports the distribution of federal funding from the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) to state library agencies based on population.

Oregon's portion is approximately $2.6 million each year.

The State Library of Oregon uses LSTA to provide services, grants, and other assistance to improve library service for all Oregonians.

$2.6
Million
(2025)

Statewide Access

- A space to connect with a librarian 24/7.
- Free journal articles.
- Local historical materials online.
- Resources to help students learn.

Local Support

- Grants that bring technology, resources, and paid work to libraries in every corner of the state.
- Grants for rural libraries to share books across county lines, saving them time and money.

Strong Libraries

- Support for summer reading programs.
- Professional training and resources for library workers.
- Library data for decision-makers.
- Consulting services for libraries.

State Library of Oregon

Wendy Cornelisen | State Librarian
wendy.cornelisen@slo.oregon.gov

INSTITUTE of
Museum and Library
SERVICES